Report Is Favorable On Environment Impact Of North-South Arterial

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON

The proposed North-South Kingston Arterial has passed its most severe test—its impact on the environment—with what appears to be flying colors.

A "Draft Environmental Impact Statement," two years in the making and released to city officials on June 4, states that the 2.48 mile road from Sleightsburg to Route 32 in the town of Ulster is both "acceptable and desirable."

The 110-page report concludes by stating, "considering the short and long term environmental consequences of the proposed Kingston North-South Arterial, along with the economic and transportation benefits it would produce, it is concluded that the proposal is acceptable and desirable for its urban-suburban environment. Therefore it is recommended that this project be approved by the federal Highway Administration."

In fact, the report found a "do nothing" policy "unacceptable," noting that by 1999 the present Route 9W connection between Kingston and Route 32 — across the Rondout Creek Bridge, up Wurts Street to East Chester Street to Flatbush Avenue—would be "far below acceptable levels of service" and further, would be a "nuisance to both travelers and residents alike."

A careful reading of the environmental impact statement prepared by the U.S. Department of Transportation, the Federal Highway Administration and the New York State Department of Transportation, indicates the new road might have an advantageous effect on Kingston's environment in term of air and noise pollution and aesthetics.

The report also addressed itself to something that became a controversy last year, the impact of the road on wildlife on its right of way. The bridge will have no effect on the wildlife of the Rondout, the report stated concluding, "there are no known wildlife or waterfowl refuges within the limits of this project."

Kingman Pond will be reduced in size, the reports states, but the study indicates the small number of animals so displaced will have nearby areas to migrate.

The report states that air and noise pollution created by heavy, often bottlenecked traffic on Broadway would be reduced considerably with the construction of the new road which will begin just north of Port Ewen, cross a bridge over the Rondout a quarter mile down stream from the present one, intersect at Delaware Avenue and continue out to Route 32 running roughly parallel with East Chester Street within the city limits.

The report also addresses itself to water pollution, contending that it will also be reduced. The report notes that most of Kingston's systems are combined—sanitary and sewer—and that their capacities are designed for dry weather flow. As a result, when it rains, the overrun winds up in the Rondout Creek.

The new highway would have a modern drainage system built underneath which would considerably relieve the city's existing system.

Still, there are adverse impacts although the report tends to minimize them. Eight homes in Sleightsburg will have to be removed and six others will be separated from their neighbors by the highway.

Twenty-one housing units will be removed by the Delaware Avenue intersection.

And there will be 23 relocations necessary along the highway's longest stretch from Delaware Avenue to Route 32.

Altogether, the report figures 60 residential units will have to be acquired (51 within the urban renewal project) and four commercial properties (three within the urban renewal project).

Hearty White House Welcome Planned

President Heading Home

LAJES AIR BASE, Azores (UPI) — President Nixon held the final diplomatic talks of his nine-nation Mideast journey today before leaving for one more hearty welcome—this time on the White House South Lawn.

During his rest stop at the Azores, Nixon conferred with Portugal's new president. Antonio de Spinola, on NATO problems and renewal by Portugal of the lease for the American air base on this tiny North Atlantic island.

A greeting by members of the Cabinet and Nixon's family was planned for his late afternoon return in Washington. Also awaiting him were the Watergate and impeachment problems that the President has been away from for more than a week.

Nixon will spend one night in Washington before going to Key Biscayne, Fla., for the weekend to rest from his exhausting Mideast trip, review his accomplishments and prepare for a Summit trip next week to Moscow.

"The diplomacy on this trip has opened the door to peace in the Middle East and the Nations in the area now have an opportunity to walk through that door," Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler said in assessing the trip.

Although the crowd at Lajes Air Base on the tiny Atlantic island of Terceira consisted of a few hundred residents and U.S military families, it was as enthusiastic as larger ones. They mobbed Nixon, pushing so close his hair was mussed. Children crushed by the crowd could be heard crying. The President, enthusiastically shaking hands, was so surrounded by people that only his head and an upraised arm could be seen.

Summing up, Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon was in an excellent mood and felt he accomplished his diplomatic goal, even though there was much more to do.

"The President feels that the trip has strengthened relations between the United States and the nations of the Middle East and has established a framework from which negotiations for peace can go forward," Ziegler said.

"During the trip the United States consolidated a foundation for a just and lasting peace."

Ziegler denied that the trip was undertaken as an attempt to stave off impeachment, but said he could not predict how the President's diplomacy affected his Watergate troubles.

"I can't judge," he said. "I think the American people will have to be the judges."

Israeli warplanes bomb Arab guerrilla targets again. Story, Page 3.

But, he continued, "if they look at the President's record of accomplishments and examine it with an open mind, that is the thing that will put Watergate behind us, and I think it is due time it is put behind us because I think there are things to do."

Ziegler said he was unaware whether Nixon had discussed his impeachment problem with Arab or Israeli leaders but added the officials he talked to in the Mideast had been "totally astounded" and "baffled" by the 'unfairness" of the situation.

Nixon was praised by his hosts, who made it clear that they want him in the White House. King Hussein of Jordan called Nixon "one of the greatest men of our time in terms of courage and wisdom but particularly in terms of our dedication in the cause of peace in the whole world."

Before he left the entourage Monday, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said Nixon's diplomacy was more general than specific, that he established the outlines and left the actual give-and-take to others. Kissinger said two clear results came from the negotiating process: that the Arab states, even some of the most militant, now accept the permanent existence of a Jewish nation and the Israelis repeated that they were not firmly committed to their existing borders.

What President Nixon said and did on his eight-day Middle East tour brought home to the Arabs and Israelis an important message: The material and moral power of the United States is there to help them live and let live.

With one hand, Nixon pledged material aid. With the other, he opened their eyes to the need for mutual accommodation to achieve peace.

That he succeeded in doing this can be seen in significant statements from all sides.

Some Panel Members Dispute Nixon on Dates

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some members of the House Judiciary Committee think they've found evidence on one of President Nixon's own tapes that he knew of the Watergate cover-up four days earlier than he has insisted he first learned of it.

The point may seem minor but could be crucial. If the tape does establish that, it could undermine Nixon's Watergate defense.

It would throw into question his contention that, acting decisively and swiftly, he initiated "intensive new inquiries" immediately upon learning on March 21, 1973, of his administration's complicity.

The tape the committee heard Tuesday was of a June 4, 1973, conversation. In that conversation, according to Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., and some other members, Nixon acknowledged knowing of "the possible involvement of White House personnel" in the cover-up as early as March 17.

At today's closed-door session, the committee was to look into the very event which brought life to Congress' impeachment inquiry —the firing of Archbibald Cox as special Watergate prosecutor last Oct. 20.

The issue is whether Cox's firing represents part of an obstruction of justice by Nixon.

Also under examination is whether the famous 18½ minute gap in another tape can be considered destruction of evidence.

After they had heard the June 4, 1973, tape, members disagreed on whether it showed Nixon had revealed knowledge of the cover-up prior to March 21, 1972.

So staunch a Nixon defender as Rep. Charles E. Wiggins, R-Calif., said the tape showed Nixon had at least an "inkling" of his administration's involvement in the cover-up.

Meanwhile, a White House spokesman says President Nixon is being tried by innuendo through a series of memos leaked from the House Judiciary Committee's closed-door impeachment inquiry.

On top of that, he says, some of the memos were written by a former McGovern campaign worker now employed by the Judiciary Committee.

"The purposeful effort to bring down the President with smoke-filled room operations by a clique of Nixon-hating partisans is an affront to the sense of fairness of every American," Ken W. Clawson, White House communications director, said Tuesday.

"It is time to stop the leaks. It is time to open these closed-door proceedings to the sunshine of truth.'

Saying he was speaking only for himself, Clawson protested that leaks damaging to Nixon have been coming from the impeachment inquiry with "the alacrity of a carnival barker at the country fair." He said Chairman Peter W. Rodino, D-N.J. has let the committee get "out of hand," and the inquiry has become "a charade," a "trial by innuendo."

Clawson was protesting a series of leaks, many based on memos written by William P. Dixon, who works for a Judiciary subcommittee chaired by Rep. Robert Kastenmeier, D-Wis., but has been loaned occasionally to the full committee's impeachment inquiry staff.

An aide to Kastenmeier said Dixon worked in the 1972 presidential campaign of Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., both in the Wisconsin primary and at the national level.

At the request of Democratic members of the Judiciary Committee, Dixon wrote 14 memos on aspects of the impeachment investigation. The memos did not represent committee conclusions, and Clawson called them "one-sided."

Some that were leaked were based on filling in "unintelligibles" in Nixon tapes.

Will County Dems Pick Martin?

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

It appears today that there is considerable support among Democratic committeemen for the nomination tonight of Republican Sheriff William B. Martin at the Ulster County Democratic Party Convention at 8 p.m. at George Washington School in Kingston.

But, County Chairman Harold Brown still says he would prefer to run a Democrat on the ticket for sheriff rather than a Republican. Martin lost the GOP nomination for reelection Tuesday night to Special Investigator Thomas Mayone.

At that time Martin said he "is not out of the race" and would make a statement in a few days. Whether that statement will take the form of a Democratic Party acceptance, an announcement that he will run as an Independent or enter a GOP primary against Mayone, remains to be seen.

Brown said the sheriff has actively sought the Democratic nomination, and that the Democrats "don't have a candidate" at this time although many of the committeemen favor Martin, an ex-Democrat who has already received the Liberal endorsement.

It is expected that the Democrats will field a full slate of candidates for Congress, State Senate, Assembly and coroner.

The latter nomination may turn into a contest with two men reportedly vying for the nomination. They are William Cappiello of Esopus and William T. Freer of Saugerties. Cappiello is associated with the funeral supply business and Freer is a funeral director.

The nominations of three candidates for Congress are expected to go to Nicholas Angell of Putnam County in the 25th District; former Congressman John Dow of Newburgh in the 26th and William Schechter of Lake Hill in the 27th District.

It is expected that Angell will face incumbent Republican Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. in the 25th; Dow will oppose GOP Congressman Benjamin A. Gilman in the 26th and Schecter will face whomever the Republicans will nominate to run for the 27th District seat being vacated by Republican Rep. Howard W. Robison. The district congressional conventions are yet to be held.

Sheriff pleased with progress of inmate treatment program. Story on page 2.

Democratic State Committeeman Maurice Hinchey of Saugerties will be nominated to face the incumbent Republican Assemblyman H. Clark Bell (101st District) who he tried unsuccessfully to defeat two years ago. Philip Mangnarella of Dutchess County who also ran the last time out, will once again be nominated to face incumbent Assemblyman Emeel Betros (R-99th District).

In the 40th Senatorial District, the Democrats are expected to name Highland Falls Mayor King James Weyant to face the incumbent GOP Sen. Richard E. Schermerhorn and in the 48th District, Alex J. Nirenberg of Ellenville will be fielded as the candidate to oppose Republican State Sen. Edwyn E. Mason.

Meanwhile, Saugerties Town Democratic committeemen were unable to decide on their choice for sheriff Tuesday night after what town chairman Jane Chodaba described as a lengthy question and answer session with Sheriff Martin and a newly entered candidate Yvonne Walliser of 58 Maverick Road, West Hurley.

With both Freer designated as coroner by Saugerties Dems, and Angell receiving their support for Congress, the party decided to recaucus one-half hour earlier than the county convention this evening to vote on its sheriff's designation, as well as casting ballots to "probably" give support to Nirenberg for state senator, said Mrs. Chodaba.

After a secret ballot for the sheriff's position had been completed, she said, neither Mrs. Wallister nor the incumbent sheriff had received a majority of the votes.

Rifton Boy Killed

RIFTON

A nine-year-old Rifton boy died Tuesday of head injuries suffered when he was struck by a car on Route 213 in Rifton.

Killed was Kevin Stokes of Box 62, Rifton. The boy was pronounced dead on arrival at Benedictine Hospital after being transported from the scene by Don's Ambulance of Rosendale.

Ulster County Sheriff's Deputies, who investigated the mishap which occured at about 3:30 p.m., identified the driver of the car as Betty J. Witherel, 27.

The boy was struck at the intersection of Main Street and Route 213 by the Witherel car, which was traveling west, deputies said.

Ulster County Coroner William S. Keyser ruled the death as accidental, and said the boy died of a skull fracture.

No summonses were issued by deputies.

Deputies were unable to say today whether the youth was crossing the road or walking along the roadway.

Young Stokes was the second school-age boy killed in car-pedestrian mishaps on Route 213 in the Town of Esopus in less than two weeks.

On June 7, six-year-old Jason Tyler of Ulster Park died when struck by a car while crossing Route 213 in nearby St. Remy shortly before his school bus arrived in the morning.

The death of the Stokes boy brought to 26 the number of persons killed on Ulster County highways so far this year. Four persons have died in car-pedestrian mishaps.

Martin Notes Progress of Program

KINGSTON — Sheriff William B. Martin has announced that the improved correctional treatment program recently initiated at the Ulster County Jail "is progressing on schedule" and that a May 14 Commission of Correction report "has been satisfied."

"Recent correspondence from the New York State Commission of correction states 'that we are pleased with your action to date and await notification of the steps contemplated to comply with recommendations No. 1, 2, and 5'" the sheriff said in a press release.

Ten recommendations were included in the Commission report on the "regular inspection" of the Ulster County Jail. On June 4, the sheriff said eight of the ten recommendations had been implemented.

According to the latest press release by the sheriff, recommendations 1, 2 and 5 are being complied with.

Those recommendations were: that the sheriff insure that newly appointed staff members be properly instructed as to requirements of their positions and that a manual of policies be distributed; that a list of prisoner rules and regulations be prepared and posted; and that prisoners be housed in accordance with classification under Correction Law.

Other recommendations in the May 14 Correction Commission report — which is separate and distinct from a "confidential" Commission report on a series of fires, an escape and a drug smuggling incident at the jail — were:

- That records governing good behavior allowances be kept in accordance with Commission "miniumum standards."
- That consideration be given to further implementation of prisoner correction treatment programs.
- That the population count be certified to at shift changes.
- That keys to activate the jail emergency alarm system be issued to all jail personnel.
- That psychiatric type razors be used.
- That all prisoners be given similar treatment.
- That the policy of accepting pre-arraigned prisoners in the jail be discontinued.

In announcing that eight of the ten recommendations were implemented on June 4, the sheriff included as two of the eight recommendations being complied with that "Laundry facilities adjacent to the jail are utilized" and that "A steel door leading to the medicine closet has been ordered and will be installed upon arrival." These two items were mentioned in the Commission report, but were not specifically included among the list of ten recommendations at the close of the report.

The sheriff announced June 4 that several steps had been taken to improve the correctional treatment program. The most recent step, according to the latest press release, is that "arrangements are being made to have Pete Seeger and his singing group appear on a voluntary basis to perform for the inmate population."

"This is one of the many activities planned for in an effort to improve inmate behavior patterns and implement a modern up-to-date correction treatment program," the sheriff said.

Karl Gohlke, an administrative official with the Commission of Correction in Albany, said Tuesday that the Commission has received reports from Martin on each step being taken to comply with recommendations. "We're satisfied he's making progress," Gohlke said.

Gohlke added, however, that "I don't want to state positively" that all recommended changes have been completed. He explained that a Commission inspector visited the jail last week, but that he has not yet checked fully with the inspector on what he found.

"I think he's accurate in what he's saying," Gohlke said of the sheriff's report on compliance. "But we will be double checking more," he added.

Regents Exams... 'Seniors Pass'

KINGSTON — No senior attending Kingston High School this year will be denied graduation because of canceled Regents examinations, it was decided Tuesday night by the Board of Education.

Superintendent of Schools Louis A. Salzmann announced today that any graduating senior, who carried a failing grade in any of the nine canceled Regents examinations, will automatically pass the course with a grade of 65. Salzmann added that this procedure has been recommended by the New York State Commissioner of Education.

At the same time, the school board decided that any senior who carries a passing grade in any of the conceled Regents courses will receive that grade as his final average . . . and will receive Regents credit for the course.

All seniors, regardless of their average, may try to raise their marks by taking a new Regents exam in August. The exam is not mandatory and seniors will not be required to attend summer school. They should, however, notify the school before July 25 that they wish to take the August Regents exam.

Underclassmen who were scheduled for any of the canceled Regents will receive the final grade that they received as result of their school work during the year. If an underclassman is failing for the year, he fails the course, and does not receive Regents credit.

That student, however, may attend summer school and take the new Regents exam in August to try to pass the course and receive Regents credit.

Underclassmen who have a passing average for the year pass the course. They may take the Regents exam in August or January to try to improve their grade.

The Ellenville Central School District announced today that all seniors registered in any of the canceled Regents courses will automatically receive a passing grade. Underclassmen who have received a passing mark for the year receive that mark. Those that have failed for the year, however, must take a new Regents in August or January, or repeat the course next year.

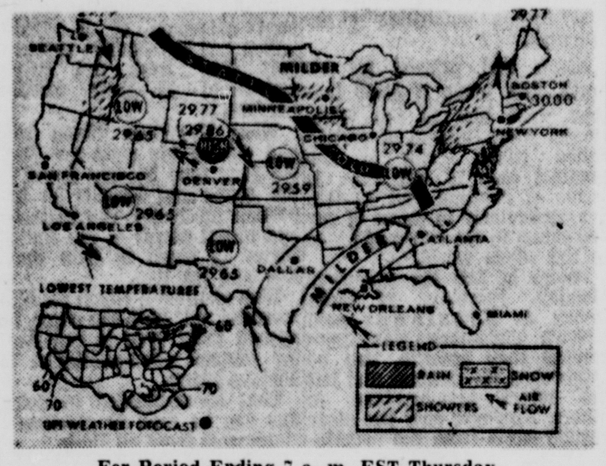

Newburgh Funds Are Approved

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — The state has agreed to provide $93,800 to help Newburgh preserve the residential character of its Washington Heights area, Gov. Malcolm Wilson's office announced today.

Plans for the 97-acre site in southeast Newburgh call for upgrading residential housing and installation of sidewalks, new curbs and street improvements.

The state will turn over 85 per cent of the grant when the city's application for funds has been submitted and approved and the remainder when the project is completed.

Under the renewal grants program, the state provides up to half of the municipal costs of a federally aided project such as the Washington Heights area No. 1, Wilson's office said.

Government Buying Meat to Aid Producers

WASHINGTON (AP) — To aid the nation's cattlemen and hog producers, the government will buy up to $100 million of beef and pork.

Kenneth Rush, economic counselor to President Nixon, said Tuesday the meat would be bought this summer and donated to school lunch programs.

"By buying now we help the cattlemen and hog producers, who are suffering from low prices, and we help prevent future dislocations in the market that would adversely affect consumer prices," Rush said.

Agriculture Department officials declined to predict how the new meat purchases might affect consumer prices. But one department official said middlemen markups have been wide enough so that it might be possible for meat packers and retailers to absorb the purchases without passing further costs on to family shoppers.

The president of the American Meat Institute, Richard Lyng, said the action "should not have any major impact on retail prices. But it could have the effect of encouraging some producers to stay in business."

The exact amount of the purchases and the breakdown between beef and pork was not announced. If the entire amount were spent on beef, for example, it would mean about 100 million pounds of hamburger, which is several days' cattle slaughter.

The Agriculture Department has purchased about 105 million pounds of beef and pork during the fiscal year ending June 30.

Claire Robinson, president of the Kansas Livestock Association, and Paul Nauer, president of the National Farmer Organization in Kansas, called the purchase "a drop in the bucket."

Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., said, "This ought to give the cattlemen a shot in the arm. Maybe the market will go up two or three cents."

Arch Booth, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, said the government should encourage increased consumption of beef rather than having the government "bail out" the meat industry.

The purchases were among the major demands of Midwest congressmen and cattlemen, who also want the military to step up its meat buying.

Livestock prices have fallen steadily at the farm level for eight months while holding relatively high at the retail level.

Other proposed remedies being sought are moratoriums on meat imports, consideration of some form of credit relief for cattle areas and probes of the middlemen's share of the retail price.

Russian World War II Hero Dead at 77

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union confirmed today the death of Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov, its greatest hero of World War II, and said his funeral will be held Friday.

Zhukov died Tuesday afternoon in a Kremlin hospital at age 77, but official confirmation came only today when the Defense Ministry informed foreign military attaches.

The official Soviet news agency Tass afterward carried a nine-word bulletin announcing the death of Zhukov, who won stunning victories at the gates of Moscow but fell from power in the inner chambers of the Kremlin.

Unofficial Soviet sources reported his death a day before the official agencies.

The sources said Zhukov, the man some historians called the "Eisenhower of Russia" for his successful defense of Moscow and capture of Berlin, died Tuesday afternoon at the Kremlin hospital after suffering a heart attack.

He had been hospitalized since December, a short time after making his last known public appearance at the funeral of his 47-year-old second wife who died of cancer.

During Zhukov's stormy career, the military planner climbed to the upper reaches of power in the Soviet Union. But he was denounced as a coward by dictator Josef V. Stalin after his stunning World War II victories.

The late Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev rehabilitated Zhukov as defense minister but then fired him a three months later for "Bonapartism."

Born Dec. 2, 1896, in a peasant village in central Russia, the 5-foot-6-inch, blue-eyed Zhukov rose quickly through the ranks of senior Soviet officers thinned by the Stalinist purges. He became chief of staff in 1941 when Nazi forces were bludgeoning the Russia's Western front.

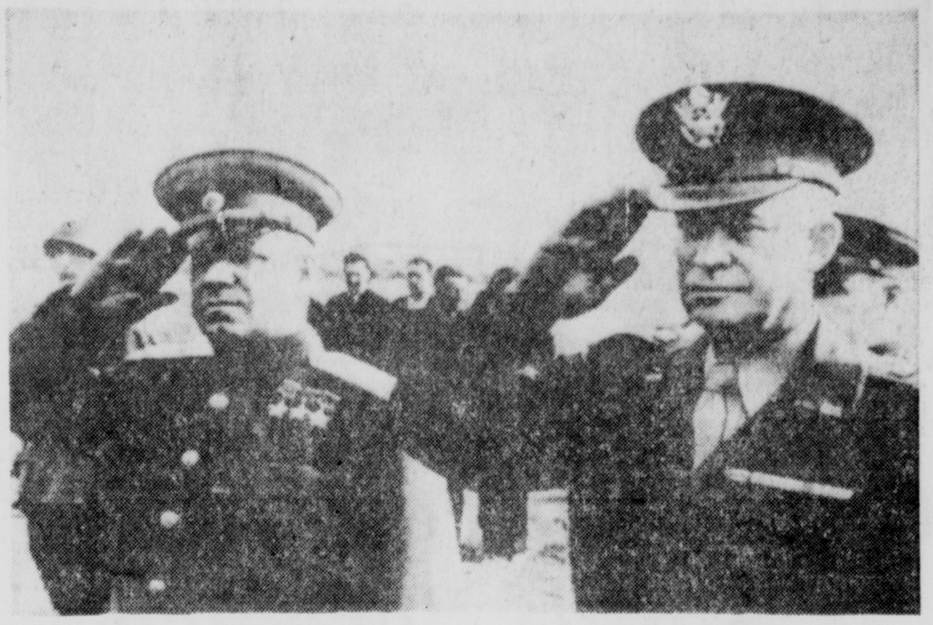

In addition to routing the Nazis from Moscow in 1941 and capturing Berlin in 1945, he had a key role in virtually every major battle involving the Red Army.

But after the war, Stalin banished him to obscure military posts, apparently out of jealousy over his popularity.

After Stalin's death, Zhukov came back to prominence and was named defense minister.

Two years later, Khrushchev made him a member of the Communist party ruling presidium, now called the Politburo. But the glory lasted for only three months.

He was dismissed for "violating Leninist principles concerning the administration of the armed forces," apparently reflecting Khrushchev's fear that the military was becoming too powerful in the government.

NATO Ministers Sign Pact

OTTAWA, Canada (AP) — Foreign ministers of the NATO countries end two days of intensive talks today by initialing a declaration of principles that Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said should be a symbol of transatlantic cooperation.

Agreement on the document came after 14 months of squabbling between the United States and its allies in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, particularly France.

Diplomatic observers said the declaration represented a personal victory for the skills of Kissinger and France's new foreign minister, Jean Sauvagnargues, who agreed on Tuesday that consultation among the NATO members should be a moral and political commitment rather than a legal obligation.

"We've just settled everything," the French minister said after the session Tuesday. "... We've found ourselves in perfect agreement ... in perfect harmony."

To mark the end of what Sauvagnargues called "the most unnecessary fight in the world," Kissinger arranged a meeting today with the French minister.

There was considerable give on both sides before Kissinger and Sauvagnargues agreed on the declaration. The Frenchman gave up his opposition to signing anything and agreed that the alliance should get what he called "an enhanced status." And Kissinger bowed to the inevitable and withdrew his objection to the European allies pursuing individual economic and military agreements with the Arab oil nations.

The initialing ceremony was to be preceded by a discussion of relations between the NATO world and the Soviet bloc, particularly the negotiations between them on European security and cooperation and mutual troop reductions in Central Europe.

Kissinger was reported to have warned the other ministers Tuesday that the alliance must retain its military preparedness while negotiating patiently with the Communists.

Israelis Bomb Arab Targets

By United Press International

Israeli warplanes launched new bombing raids against Arab guerrilla targets in southern Lebanon today, and Egypt warned the attacks could wreck President Nixon's Middle East peace efforts.

The military command in Tel Aviv said Israeli fighter-bombers conducted air strikes for 15 minutes at dawn in the second consecutive day of attacks against suspected guerrilla bases. All planes returned safely to base, the command said.

Witnesses in Lebanon said four Israeli planes bombed and rocketed the valleys of Ebl Es Saqi and El Khureiba and the outskirts of Rachaya El Fukhkhar and nearby forests and valleys. No casualties were reported in the raid.

In Cairo, Egytian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmi warned Tuesday the raids could wreck Nixon's peace efforts and provoke another round of warfare.

"Egypt holds Israel responsible for all the consequences of this aggression, including the possible abortion of the chances of realizing Middle East peace," he said in a message to the United Nations Security Council.

Fahmi asked the Security Council to take steps to halt what he called "barbarous aggressions" and said Egypt "will not watch with folded arms this aggression on Lebanon's sovereignty."

The Israeli command said the first wave of attacks began Tuesday afternoon with strikes on five bases in Lebanon shortly before President Nixon left Jordan, the last stop of his Middle East tour.

They launched more bombings at night near the village of Hraibe, seven miles north of the frontier, an Israeli military spokesman said.

More Kissinger Data Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, says he has asked the Justice Department for additional documents on Henry A. Kissinger's role in controversial national-security wiretaps.

Fulbright said Tuesday that while the department already has supplied a considerable amount of material for the committee review requested by Kissinger, "as always there are what would appear to be gaps."

At a closed meeting, the committee reaffirmed its decision to proceed with the inquiry.

Fulbright said Kissnger may be questoned about the matter Friday during a session at which he has been invited to brief the committee on his trips to the Middle East and the Soviet Union.

A committee member said after the Tuesday meeting the inquiry may be handled at first by a two-member subcommittee made up of Sens. John Sparkman, D-Ala., and Clifford P. Case, R-N.J.

The two were delegated to inspect an FBI summary of the wiretaps last September and to report their conclusions to the full committee. The Justice Department supplied further documents and memoranda last Friday on the condition that Sparkman and Case be responsible for their custody.

Kissinger requested the committee review in declaring last week in Salzburg, Austria, that he would resign unless questions are cleared up about his testimony concerning wiretaps on 13 government employes and four newsmen.

He had testified at his confirmation hearings that the decision to use wiretaps to pinpoint sources of news leaks from the National Security Council was made by President Nixon, then Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and the late FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

Kissinger said he was required to supply the names of individuals with access to the leaked information.

State Audit Costs Rondout $40,526

By CARL GRAHAM

KYSERIKE

The Rondout Valley School District will lose $40,526 as a result of a special state audit of transportation.

Robert Robertaccio, superintendent of schools, called the change "A campaign by the state to correct procedures they have overlooked in the past" and said that school districts all over the state were losing state busing aid as a result of the new procedure.

As a result of the audit for the two-year period ending July 1, 1973, the district will lose state aid for the miles "deadheaded" by buses returning to base after discharging all passengers.

"We were reporting the actual mileage run," Julian Bartle said. "We can't figure this kind of mileage in any more."

Administrators said they had not yet been notified how the district must repay the money, but expresed the hope that it would be spread over more than one budget year.

John Thornton and Mrs. Anna Mae Emmerling, who headed a special teachers' committee studying elementary science and health programs for the past 18 months, described for the board a new science-health teaching concept brought about by their study.

The revision was adopted to help eliminate "holes" in the science and health instruction programs in kindgergarten and the first four grades due to differences in teachers, Thornton said, adding that it also would help eliminate duplications. He said that although teachers consulted about the new program had suggested some revisions, the overall response was enthusiastic. The major change exposes the child to all areas of health instruction in each of the four grades. Thornton, Mrs. Emmerling, and other members of the committee were commended by Robertaccio and Wayne Kelder, board president, for their work.

Business Administrator Lee Comeau and Mrs. Taimi Reip demonstrated a new soft plastic milk container used in the Kingston school district during the past year. Comeau said the container was cheaper than conventional wax milk containers, reduced spillage, and made trash pickup easier because of reduced volume when empty, but Mrs. Reip noted that it was more difficult to pour milk over cereal from it, especially for small children.

The board voted against advertising for bids on the new container this year.

Bids were awarded to Cascade Paper for schoolpaper supplies ($13,570), Mead School Products for office supplies ($12,914), Burroughs for office supplies ($541), and Anderson Chevrolet of Accord for a school bus ($6,179). The Anderson bid, the only one received, was less than all of the five bids rejected at last month's meeting.

The board adopted the 1974-75 school claendar recommended by the superintendents of schools in the county. Major changes are a lengthier Christmas vacation and a 10-day vacation in February to replace time previously taken off in warmer months, made as a fuel conservation measure.

The board voted to upgrade the district office bookkeeper one full grade on the salary schedule, noting that Mrs. Ethel Kosonen's work load would be heavier next year because of the need to coordinate programs with BOCES.

The board voted down 4-2 a request by the Town of Marbletown to buy a portion of the land at the Marbletown Elementary School as the site for a town highway department shed.

The board will meet in the high school library at 8 p. m. on Monday, July 1, to reorganize. New board members Richard Villamil and Charles Ludlow will be sworn in to replace Morris Felsen and Carl Grassi.

Grand Larceny Cases . . . Status Revealed

KINGSTON

Garry Stafford, 31, a former clerk in the city treasurer's office, is again facing the grand jury on grand larceny second charges while John Houghtaling, 37, former principal account clerk, will be going to trial, "probably within a week," on charges of grand larceny third in the same office.

Stafford, in fact, had the original indictment dismissed by County Judge Raymond Mino on May 9, due to a "technicality" during the investigation of the case last summer. "It was a mistake made in the presentation to the grand jury," District Attorney Francis J. Vogt explained. "It was the fault of this office."

Vogt did not elaborate but it has been learned that the "mistake" involved the manner in which investigators determined tax monies were paid to Stafford. Only Stafford's picture was shown to taxpayers, rather than being included in the five other persons working in the treasurer's office at the time the money was discovered missing. Mino apparently ruled that prejudicial against Stafford.

City detectives stated last August that about $2,500 of the missing $3,725 could be traced to Stafford, there being about $1,000 unaccounetd for. The city has since been reimbursed by its bonding company for the full amount of missing money.

Vogt said he would be representing the case against Stafford within the next few weeks to the grand jury which is in session all summer.

He did not appear optimistic. "One of the problems is the book keeping procedures were so antiquated and so bad that it was very difficult to pinpoint responsibility," Vogt said.

While Stafford'd case involved taxpayer money, Houghtaling's dealt with a $493 check drawn on the Kingston Home Improvement Program, a federal/state project. Houghtaling is charged with cashing the check and using the money for his own purposes.

Stafford, who came to work for the city under the Emergency Employment Program of 1971, was fired shortly after his arrest last June. Houghtaling, a 15-year employe of the city, resigned after he was arrested.

Both men, who have pleaded innocent to the charges against them, are free on their own recognizance.

Highland Voters Approve Budget

HIGHLAND

Highland Central School District voters Tuesday night approved a $3,978,532 budget for the 1974-75 school year and elected four persons to the Board of Education.

The budget passed by a comfortable 463-238 margin. Voter turnout of 802 was up substantially from last year's 670.

Mrs. Betty L. Walker, appointed last year to replace the late Edward Gona, led a field of five candidates in the board election. Mrs. Walker polled 649 votes to take a three-year term on the district's seven-member Board of Education. A newcomer, Mrs. Vivian P. Marone, finished second with 608, also winning a three year term. The third three-year spot went to incumbent Daniel Alfonso, the board's vice president, who polled 557 votes.

Finishing fourth and winning election for the one year remaining in Gona's unexpired term was newcomer Don T. Hooton with 550 votes. Incumbent Lewis E. King lost in his bid for reelection, finishing last in the five-candidate field with 349 votes.

Robert Hansut, the board president said he was "happy that the people gave us a budget and showed their confidence in the board and administration.

Hansut noted that this marked the second year in a row in which the board had been able to effect a cut in school taxes for the district. The Town of Lloyd, which contributes about 83 per cent of the district's tax revenues, will see taxes go down about $4 per thousand of assessed valuation. The other four towns in the district, which together contribute about 13 per cent of tax revenues, will also get tax cuts of varying amounts.

Police Probe Break-In, Burglary

KINGSTON

Police probes were underway today into a burglary at Morgan Linen Service Inc. in Kingston and a break-in at the Port Ewen Grand Union store during which vandals reportedly did extensive damage.

City detectives said an air conditioner valued at $149 and an electric typewriter were reported missing from the Morgan Linen Service building at 483 Hasbrouck Avenue following a burglary.

Police received a report of a burglary in progress at 1:42 a.m., but when they arrived the thief was gone. Entry to the building was gained by breaking a window in a rear overhead door.

Meanwhile, State police said they were investigating a report of a burglary and vandalism at the Port Ewen Grand Union. The break-in was discovered by a delivery man at about 4 a.m. today, police said.

Details of the damage and items taken were not immediatley available, as an inventory was in progress.

'Sunshine'. . . She's a Beauty

PORT EWEN

Her name is Sunshine. She's two years old, weighs 90 pounds, and has been winning what might be termed "beauty contests" since she was 11 months old.

Obviously Sunshine is no beautiful baby; what she is is a show dog—a champion show dog, and a member of a relatively rare breed of dog in this country, at that.

Sunshine is a member of an ancient breed called Rottweiler, and is owned by George and Linda Stephano of Rogers Street, Port Ewen.

The Stephanos are obviously and justifiably proud of Sunshine. Since they first began showing her in April of 1973 she has been in some 23 shows throughout the east and has come away with ribbons from well over half of them.

The type of shows Sunshine has been winning are not what are commonly thought of as obedience shows—the judging in her shows has depended on the structure of the dog, her gait, temperament, and such. "It's a sort of beauty contest," said Mrs. Stephano.

For a dog whose breed has been traced back to Roman times when they were used as guard dogs during invasions and for herding cattle, winning beauty contests is pretty good.

"The breed got is name from a town called Rottweil in Germany," Stephano explained. It was there, he said, that the Roman's abandoned many of the dogs during retreat. The Germans liked the dogs, and adopted them.

The Germans used them also for herding cattle and to carry valuables as protection against highwaymen, he explained.

Since then they have become a recognized police breed, and are often used in Europe for rescue missions.

"They are a beautiful, even-tempered dog — highly intelligent and trainable," Stephano said. "And they're exceptionally fond of children."

The Stephanos' son, Michael, five, apparenly gets along well with Sunshine. "I think he's going to be a junior handler," Mrs. Stephano joked.

County Fair: Farm Format Will Remain

NEW PALTZ

Although old fashioned county fairs are on the decline, the Ulster County Fair remains firm in its farm format and plans have been made to expand this year's offering to four days.

The fair will open Thursday morning, Aug. 8 and close Sunday, Aug. 11 with the traditional evening Parade of Champions. Events will be held at the fairgrounds in New Paltz.

At the top of the program will be livestock and craft judging, Grange exhibits, horse show, vegetable judging and dog obedience trials. This year the fair will be presenting the Ulster County segment of the Miss New York State Teenager Contest, two live circus performances daily, an Indian village exhibit, the Lefooters Square Dance group, a sky diving exhibition and an Old West Gymkkana. For the children there will be a petting zoo and special games and races.

One of the reasons for adding the fourth day to the fair schedule was that the number of categories the 4H members compete in has grown so large and the program so crowded that the youngsters could not be given the recognition they deserve. In addition, a vegetable class, open to all residents of Ulster County, has been added this year. An entire afternoon is planned for judging in 60 vegetable classes.

The fair is sponsored by the Ulster County Agricultural Society Inc. Copies of the fair book may be obtained at the Ulster County Extension Office, 71 ohn Street, Kingston or from the fair secretary, RD 2, Box 461, Highland, 12528.

Parenthood League Issues Warning

KINGSTON

Citing a report from the manufacturers of the "Dalkon Shield Intauterine Device" that there is a possibility of spontaneous abortion if a woman becomes pregnant while using the device, the Planned Parenthood League has issued notification to all its clinic patients using the device to return to the clinic for counseling.

"Although the risk appears to be a very small one, A. H. Robins Company reports the possibility of septic abortion if the woman using this device becomes pregnant while the device is in place," said a Planned Parenthood spokeswoman. According to Sheila Hadley, director of the League, 2.2 million such devices have been used, with 36 spontaneous abortions and four fatalities resulting.

The League stopped inserting the devices several months ago, according to the director.

Must Deal for Strength

An adequate national defense is necessary if the United States wants to continue to deal from strength in its foreign policy.

President Nixon's proposed $85.8 billion defense budget is the largest one in American peacetime history, but that is to be expected.

Inflation affects defense spending just as it affects all other monetary transactions in our society. The dollar no longer buys as much defense as it did last year. The cost of technological escalation has also affected defense spending. The change to an all-volunteer Army also has added to defense spending.

The chance of securing complete peace in the world seems like an impossible dream. And because of this the United States must remain strong, despite the end of our direct involvement in Vietnam, despite the detente with the Soviets and despite our new relationship with Peking.

A sizable and effective defense establishment is an expensive necessity for this nation in today's world. That is a fact of life that everyone must realize.

The House of Representatives by a 358-37 vote authorized $22.6 billion for Defense Department procurement, research and development for fiscal 1975. That is about 12.6 per cent over the fiscal 1974 appropriation. The House decisively turned back efforts to cut the bill.

The Senate Armed Services Committee has approved a similar bill authorizing $21.8 billion for these purposes. Somewhere between $21.8 billion and $22.6 billion will probably be the figure finally approved by Congress.

The United States, the most powerful voice for democracy in the world today, can only continue its efforts for peace by remaining as strong, if not stronger, than the Communist nations.

Some Free Advice

The county Democratic convention, convening tonight, must be aware that it has its work cut for for it. Too often in the past have our area Democrats lamented that their frequent losses at the polls were the faults of everyone else but themselves — with the press, naturally, bearing the brunt of the criticism.

While there is still time, perhaps members of the Democratic party should do a little soul-searching and realistically acknowledge that elections are mostly won or lost on the caliber of candidate offered. It doesn't take too much political acumen to realize that to beat a good incumbent, a better challenger must be offered.

No amount of self-indulgent recrimination can bring victory at the polls. Only exceptionally qualified candidates can do that.

Careful Driving Factor

The word from the National Safety Council about traffic fatalities continues to be encouraging. The latest report is that not since the Council began keeping statistics in 1933 has the death rate on American highways been as low as it was the first four months of this year.

During 1973, there were 4.2 traffic deaths per 100 million miles of auto travel. In the early part of 1974 deaths occurred at the very significantly lower rate of 3.4 per 100 million miles. This has been taken into consideration by the Council in predicting that auto deaths over the coming four-day July 4 holiday will be 200 to 300 below the figure for the last such weekend in 1973.

This does not at all relieve us of the obligation to drive with special care over the holiday. The downtrend is credited to the fuel shortage and less speed, but responsible driving continues to be a crucially important factor.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Pet Foods Parry Poor's Hunger

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Soaring prices are driving the poor, particularly old people with fixed incomes, to eating cheap dog and cat foods. This is the stark finding of a confidential Senate nutrition study.

My associate Les Whitten tried some of the pet foods, which suddenly are selling big in the ghettos and communities for the impoverished elderly.

He found the canned pet foods, though edible, had a rank taste which made him queasy. The dry foods, sold in bulk quantities, were coarse tasting and hard to swallow.

When he mixed them with water and salted them, they were at least palatable. Peanut butter or cheese spread made dry dog foods easier to get down, he found. But the poor seldom can afford these tasty spreads.

The confidential study, prepared by nationally known experts for the Senate Nutrtition Committee, reports that high costs are increasing the demand for cheaper foods even among the better-to-do.

"For the poor, however, who already are consuming generally the lowest cost and lowest quality food items, there is virtually no flexibility to switch to lower cost food items," the study declares.

Therefore, they "eat less . . . and switch to foods that are not designed for human consumption, that is, pet foods." The world population expansion makes the plight of the poor even more precarious, contends the report.

The nutrition experts found that chicken and beef are vanishing from the die. of the poor. At the same time, "the sale of pet food rose by 12 per cent over the first nine months of 1973."

Estimates the study: "As much as one-third of the pet foods sold in ghetto areas (are) being used for human consumption. For areas with high proportions of elderly poor, the estimates (are) even higher."

The proud but poor, embarrassed over their poverty, are furtively buying pet foods to feed themselves and their families, indicates the study.

Wage increases only tighten the squeeze on the truly poor by driving up the demand and, therefore, the cost of meats. For those on fixed incomes, the struggle to stay alive is becoming more difficult.

Nutrition chairman Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., and ranking Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., will explore the world food problem at hearings beginning this week.

JOBS FOR SALE?: No one who knows Bob Dole, the personable senator from Kansas, believes he would peddle federal jobs for campaign contributions.

Yet we have found more than two dozen government workers on his list of campaign contributors. Of these, 23 are political appointees, who normally should have requried clearance from Dole.

Some claim they never sought Dole's support, but many admit they asked for his endorsement.

U.S Attorney Robert J. Roth of Wichita, for example, told us he owed Dole his job. "All U.S. attorneys are appointed through their home senators," Roth said. He has contributed $100 to Dole's campaign.

Dr. Andrew Adams, formerly a top Veterans Administration official, now at Health, Education and Welfare, asked for Dole's endorsement. "He did recommend me," admitted Adams. He has now kicked in $650 to Dole's campaign.

Robert Hoffman wangled a job as an Agriculture Department lawyer last year, with the help of Dole's office. He is a $100 Dole contributor.

Deryl Schuster, a Small Business Administration district director, acknowledged that "Dole was involved in helping me get (the job)." Schuster has forked over $50.

Among other federal officials who have donated to Dole's re-election this year are Robert Rebein, managing director of the Interstate Commerce Commission, $150.; John Droge, an Environmental Protection Agency economist, $150; Glenn Weir, an associate agriculture administrator, $250; Interior Solicitor Kent Frizzell, $650; Joseph Parker, vice chairman of the U.S. Tariff Commission, $200.

Dole's administrative assistant, John Crutcher, who donated $150 to Dole's campaign while he was an Office of Economic Opportunity official, explained:

"In all political situations, it is customary for any appointee to be checked out. People who are interested in politics give money as a matter of course. The practice," Crutcher insisted, "was in the best traditions of the Republic."

True, there's no reason to believe Dole demanded or the appointees offered political donations in return for their jobs. But the line between a campaign contribution and an outright bribe is becoming increasingly difficult to distinguish.

The way elections are financed in the United States, as Watergate has dramatized, is in the worst traditions of the Republic.

Footnote: The last time we wrote about Sen. Dole, he asked us whether the information had been planted by his political opponent, Rep. Bill Roy, D-Kans. My associate Bob Owens carefully explained that the tip had not been initiated by anyone connected with Roy or with Kansas politics.

Despite this, Dole accused us two days later of printing stories "leaked" to us by his opponent. Dole didn't deny the accuracy of the story. Instead, in the best Nixon-Watergate tradition, he tried to distract public attention with rapid counterfire.

Nixon's Best Hope

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — An overwhelming majority of the 17 Republicans on the House Judiciary Committee have within the last three weeks become covert Nixon advocates, rekindling President Nixon's hope to avoid impeachment by the House.

The Judiciary Committee Republicans, after months of procrastination between defending and castigating the President, have now come down hard on his side following the White House transcripts furor. They no longer complain about his defiance of committee subpoenas. Rather, they now discuss impeachment among themselves in starkly partisan terms. In the absence of incontrovertible evidence of criminal activity by the President ("finding the murder weapon," in committee jargon), they will vote overwhelmingly against impeachment.

That most likely will not deter the committee's 21-member Democratic majority from voting impeachment. But a party-line vote in the committee may close Republican ranks on the House Floor, which in coalition with conservative Southern Democrats could defeat the articles of impeachment. Thus, the House Judiciary Committee has been transformed from President Nixon's deadly threat to his best hope for survival.

The change stems from diverse factors: a perceptible decline in impeachment momentum; unrelenting pressure from Nixonite constitutents back home; gradual emergence of House Minority leader John Rhodes as an overt defender of the President.

Given that background, the committee's Republicans are insisting Mr. Nixon can be impeached only for a criminal offense. What's more, they compared themselves more to a petit jury (required to find him innocent if there is reasonable doubt) rather than a grand jury (empowered to indict for probable cause). Once enraged by presidential defiance of their subpoenas, these Republicans now privately concede Mr. Nixon's right to withhold whatever evidence he wants.

This means Mr. Nixon can absolutely count on 10 of the 17 Republicans. Three others — Robert McClory of Illinois, Henry Smith of New York and Lawrence Hogan of Maryland — can only dim prospects for voting for impeachment. That leaves four Republicans who may well support impeachment: Thomas F. Railsback of Illinois, Hamilton Fish, Jr., of New York, William Cohen of Maine and, most surprisingly, M. Caldwell Butler of Virginia.

Just how these seven Republicans vote is a matter of utmost concern at the White House. A 10 to 7 GOP vote against impeachment would be regarded there as disastrous, guaranteeing House impeachment and adding impetus to possible Senate conviction. At the other extreme would be a 16 to 1 vote, with Maine's Cohen in uncomfortable isolation. That partisan freeze would pose hope for Mr. Nixon's victory on the House floor and even possibly prevent impeachment by the committee.

The reason why the actual outcome may prove closer to 16-1 than a 10-7 Republican split derives from closed-door caucuses regularly held by the 17 Republicans. The tone has become increasingly partisan and defensive. Rep Charles Wiggins of California, a supurb lawyer and hard-core Nixonite, has emerged as the committee's dominant Republican.

These caucuses are more and more critical of John Doar, majority counsel for the impeachment proceedings, behind his back, and Albert Jenner, minority impeachment counsel, to his face. Jenner, a brilliantly creative attorney plagued with the inability to still his tongue, is in perpetual danger of being fired by the committee Republicans — purportedly for talking too much but actually for not defending Mr. Nixon.

Among themselves, committee Republicans have deplored the Doar-Jenner decision to interview the victims of last fall's Saturday night massacre which triggered the impeachment drive — Archibald Cox and Elliot Richardson. What in the world, these Republicans ask in all seriousness, do Cox and Richardson have do with impeachment?

In demanding "the murder weapon," the Republicans establish standards far more rigid than those followed by grand juries in issuing indictments for white-collar crime. They follow the White House example in assaulting John W. Dean's testimony, dwelling on minor inaccuracies rather than major accuracies.

This creates intense peer group pressure with implacable Rep. Delbert Latta of Ohio whipping the waverers. After Virginia's Butler once tried to help Doar perfect a subpoena for White House tapes, Latta privately upbraided him for, in effect, collaboration with the enemy.

Such pressure resulted in unanimous Republican demands that the committee take testimony from Dean, with cross-examination from Nixon defense lawyer James St. Clair. Those few Republicans on the committee seeking to avoid polarization have implored chairman Peter Rodino to end his opposition to Dean's appearance, thus avoiding a needless confrontation. But they are too late. Polarization has occurred, to the immense satisfaction of the White House.

Hung-Up on Electric Gadgets

Every man is a sucker for something. He may be rational, cautious, intelligent but, in at least one area, he is a superb boob. Once afflicted, it is important that he press on, learning nothing from successive defeats.

In my case, it is gadets. Long ago, I was the first man on my block to buy an electric razor. It didn't shave whiskers — they were decapitated, but I was thrilled by the plug-in and hum of it. In a subliminal sense, it was almost sexy.

Since those dear dead days, I have bought everything which is guaranteed to do something if you push a button. All of them expire with dead batteries which always turn out to be a peculiar type manufactured in the lower hill country of Madagascar.

Would you believe five cameras? I have a 16 mm. Pathe with zoom lens; a 16 mm. Bell & Howell; a Nikon 1.4; and SX-70 Polaroid and an old, gooey Polaroid for shooting — excuse the expression — relatives.

Last year the astute Milton Goldstandt gave me a ball warmer. This is a golfing illusion in which three balls are placed in a red canister, where they are heated to 120 degrees. They are then guaranteed to travel 20 yards farther. The only time it worked, tragically, was on the green.

Besides, it is embarrassing to walk into a men's locker room with a ball warmer under your arm. Golfers take one look, and they become Don Rickles.

Take, for example, electric window buttons on the car. Great. I love them. The only one which doesn't function is beside the driver. I am the only lunkhead in line at the tollbooth who has to open the door and step out to drop a dime in the basket. The manual rolling down of windows was never that much trouble.

I bought a big, automatic burglar alarm — a German shepherd who cost $200 and gets an "A" in eating. Never, never buy an intelligent dog. A stupid one barks when he hears strange noises outside the house. Charlie Chan dozes between meals and waits to hear the chimes when someone rings the front doorbell. He looks irritated, drags himself slowly up, one leg at a time, emits a hollow cowardly woof, and collapses.

We have air conditioners — the best — which, when the button is pressed, cough, sneeze, emit a long sigh and pour a river of hot air into the house. I have an automatic clock which turns the lawn lights on and off. The damn thing never learned to understand daylight saving time.

Even my watch is automatic. After it hits February 28th, it goes blithely on to the 29th, 30th and 31st. My field glasses are 16-power, excellent for watching one-horsepower horses.

I was suckered into buying a big telescope for looking at the moon. No matter how many times I looked, the big silver ball looked the same. So it shouldn't be a total loss, I made the children look through it. After four looks, they cried when I called them out to look again.

Then I bought an assortment of automatic deep-sea rods. They never caught a marlin, but they're sheer murder on the street if you want to stop a passing Jeep.

In our bedroom, Mrs. B. and I have a color TV set which, by pushing a button, locks the picture in. No matter what channel we try, we get the same picture locked in — something that looks like a runaway electrocardiogram.

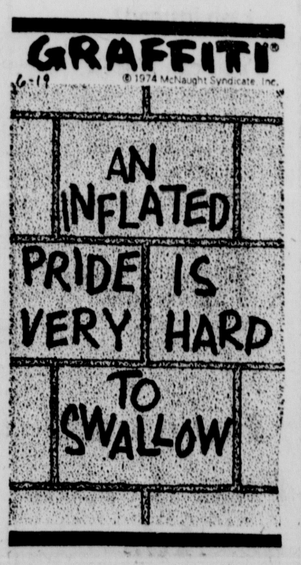

Some men have a weaknesss for booze. Or women. Or gambling. They stand a chance of getting a slight return on their investment. I still collect gadgets. Over the decades, I have collected a fortune in exotic instruments which do nothing. In my closet, I can press a minimum of 40 buttons, and nothing will happen except that the tip of my index finger flattens.

Please do not think that, by writing this, I am cured. I invite all purveyors of push-button devices which do not work to send their junk mail to me. No matter what it is, I'm in the market for it.

I even have a hospital table for reading in bed. I have never gone for the electric blanket because, in bed, I am easily shocked. On the other hand, I might invest in a blanket which makes its own ice.

It is possible for any man to be intelligent, moral, ambitious and far-sighted. It is of paramount importance for a man to be nutty about something. Guess who bought the first clock radio which awakens you to the brass sound of "Stars and Stripes Forever?" Guess who first tossed one into the garbage can?

No matter what you think, I enjoy being off my rocker — especially if it's electric. . .

Gov. Wilson on Legislature Bills

Final Count . . . 1,082-260 for Approvals

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — In his first year as the state's chief executive, Gov. Malcolm Wilson exercised his veto power on nearly one-fifth of the bills presented to him by the legislature —including scores of disapprovals disclosed Monday.

With the official bill-signing period ended last Saturday, Wilson's office announced his final decisions on well over 100 bills Monday, including a veto of a proposal which would have altered the Sunday "blue laws."

The final tally showed the legislature passed 1,335 measures, while Wilson approved 1,082 and disapproved 260.

The governor has 30 days to act on measures passed at the end of the legislative session, which closed May 16 this year.

In vetoing the proposed revisions to the archaic and somewhat clumsy "blue laws" governing sales on Sunday, Wilson said he was "sympathetic" to the purpose but could not approve the changes because they were "both confusing and unenforceable."

The proposed alterations would have changed infractions from misdemeanors to violations, increased the fines and eliminated jail terms. They also would have substituted a specific list of items which could not be sold for the present system of listing items which can be sold. In addition, they would have exempted persons who celebrate a different sabbath than Sunday and would have allowed for injunctive actions by local governments.

In another veto, Wilson disapproved the so-called "family services" measure which would have restructured the state's welfare bureaucracy. The bill would have allowed local communities to have an impact on programs but would have allowed the overall system to be run from Albany.

Wilson said that because of the late introduction of the bill and the limited time allowed to implement its provisions, there was no agreement on its desirability. He added that it would cost an additional $15 million to $30 million in administrative restructuring alone.

The governor also said the bill might have an adverse effect on services under Medicaid and public assistance programs and there was no clear decision on how mental health and health services would be coordinated.

The governor said he would set up a task force to study the entire matter.

In other actions announced Monday, Wilson signed into law bills which will:

—Give the Education Department $200,000 to provide full state funding for the education of deaf children under the age of three. Wilson noted that "deaf children can benefit enormously from early education."

—Require treatment rather than jailing of persons arrested for public intoxication beginning in January, 1976. Under the new law, persons arrested for public intoxication will be taken to special treatment facilities. Public intoxication also will no longer be a criminal offense. The effective date was delayed for 18 months to allow local communities to work out programs and treatment centers.

—Prohibit insurance companies from cancelling or failing to renew personal insurance, such as homeowners or automobile insurance, "solely on the basis of advanced age." A law passed last year prohibited the actions in automobile policies for persons over 65 but Wilson noted the new provisions cover other types of personal insurance and also protect older persons who have not yet reached 65.

—Authorize the spending of up to $2.5 million to create 11 new state alcoholism treatment units and more fully develop eight existing units. The "halfway" houses provide a place for alcoholics to stay while attempting a recovery.

—Give state chartered credit unions the right to permit revolving credit plans for members. Under the new law, a credit union could be granted an extension of credit by a committee or loan officer and then be granted loans within the extension without further approval.

Wilson vetoed bills which would have:

—Added to the governor's powers in dealing with the energy crisis by allowing him to order public utilities to discontinue or limit promotional activities. Wilson noted that the Public Service Commission already had such authority and that his powers under the emergency law passed earlier this year would expire next year, at any rate.

—Allowed Indians to hunt, fish and trap on reservations subject only to tribal fish and wildlife laws. Wilson noted that former Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller had vetoed a similar bill last year on the ground it would "seriously undermine" state conservation and law enforcement. He said he had the same objection.

—Set up Indian cemeteries or burial grounds as places of historic interest. Wilson said that although he fully concurred with the objective, he disapproved the measure because it was "so loosely drawn as to preclude the possibility of any real protection."

—Established a temporary state commission to study the Long Island Sound and its marine resources. Wilson said the bill, pushed by Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea, "would be largely duplicative of ongoing efforts." Wilson also noted there was no money in the budget for the commission.

—Changed the vehicle and traffic law to establish new penalties for persons leaving the scene of an auto accident. Wilson said he agreed with the attempt to increase the penalties for persons involved in serious accidents but that the bill also would have lessened the consequences for leaving the scene of less serious accidents.

Court Decision...Little Impact on Southern Schools

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A Supreme Court ruling that segregated private schools no longer can be given exclusive use of public recreation facilities apparently will have little impact in the South, where many whites fled to the suburbs years ago to avoid integration.

Most education officials polled after the ruling said such schools have their own facilities and that public ones are not needed. And some such schools, formed originally as tools of segregation, have now relaxed their policies and claim any child is welcome.

Die-hard segregationists said they didn't need public facilities for their schools and wouldn't use them if they did.

The Supreme Court upheld on Monday a district court ruling banning segregated schools in Montgomery, Ala., from using city football stadiums, baseball diamonds or basketball courts for official games.

But the high court failed to rule on whether the segregated academies could use other public facilities such as zoos, museums and parks and sent that matter back for the district court to decide.

George W. Shannon, editor of the segregationist magazine, "The Citizen," in Jackson, Miss., said the Citizen Council academies have been denied exclusive use of public facilities but that its pupils do make trips to public parks and zoos.

"They can go to parks or the Jackson zoo if they want to," Shannon said. "A representative of the (Ku Klux) Klan or the NAACP can go there."

He said council schools don't want to use public facilities because "we don't want any state aid of any kind."

Private school leaders in Montgomery where the case began in 1958 said the high court's decision now has little meaning because they no longer need to use the public facilities.

In Georgia, all three major private school organizations now claim to have racially open policies and therefore said they cannot be considered "white flight" academies as defined by the court.

"Our group is not totally segregated so it probably won't affect us at all," said Warren Brinson, executive secretary of the Southeastern Association of Independent Schools, which has 72 member academies and 25,000 pupils.

The association, however, does not require open admissions policies as a membership requirement as does the Georgia Association of Independent Schools.

Atlanta's park and recreation manager, Jack Delius, said exclusive use of facilities has been denied to segregated groups for some time.

"We can't deny the general public use of a facility, but where we have a formal request for a specific facility to be set aside for the exclusive use of a private school we generally decline."

Dallas, Tex., School Supt. Nolan Estes said private schools have their own facilities and don't need the public ones. In Jefferson City, Mo., officials said the same applied in most cases.

In some areas, such as Oklahoma City, "white flight" merely involved whites moving to the suburbs where children attended predominantly white public schools. Private schools did not spring up by the hundreds as in the South.

The impact of the ruling will be felt in some areas, however.

Dr. Lyman Ginger, Kentucky superintendent of public instruction, said private schools have used public school facilities and that 12 to 15 private high schools would be affected.

And in Charlotte, N.C. The Rev. W. Jack Hudson of the Northside Christian School said:

"As taxpayers we should have the right to use them (public recreational facilities) and do not feel we should be excluded because we are a private Christian school. I don't feel that we should be made secondclass citizens because we want a better education for our children."

Arabs Praise Nixon, but . . .

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — President Nixon has convinced four Arab leaders of his active neutrality between Israel and the Arabs, but he does not appear to have brought them closer to a compromise with Israel.

The American chief executive was told peace will never come to the Middle East without major concessions which Israel so far won't make—withdrawal from all territory captured from the Arabs, including Old Jerusalem, and restoration of Palestinian "rights."

Nixon earned praise from the Arabs and displeasure in Israel for the new era of good will that is opening up between the United States and the Arab world. But he found no softening in Arab conditions for a lasting peace.

Analysis

The message was the same in Cairo, Jiddah, Damascus and Amman. Nixon admitted he had no solutions in his briefcase, but promised to use Washington's influence to maintain momentum for a settlement.

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat talked of removal of Israeli forces from the Sinai Peninsula and of settling the Palestinian question.

King Faisal of Saudi Arabia, who considers himself the protector of Islam's holiest shrines, spoke of returning Jerusalem to Arab sovereignty.

Syria's President Hafez Assad stressed that military disengagement in the Golan Heights must be only a "first step toward . . . Israel's withdrawal from all occupied Arab territory and securing the national rights of the Palestinian people."

And King Hussein of Jordan asked Nixon to press for immediate Israeli withdrawal from the Jordan Valley, to create a six-mile demilitarized zone along the Jordan River similar to those separating Israeli forces from the Egyptian and Syrian armies on the Suez canal and the Golan Heights.

Hussein also outlined his ideas for a Palestinian solution: To let the 640,000 Palestinians on the West Bank of the Jordan River choose one of three alternatives once Israel withdraws—"continued union with Jordan, a new form of federation with the rest of Jordan or the creation of a separate state" uniting the West Bank and the Gaza Strip.

Nurses Still Picketing

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Striking nurses, accusing hospitals of "misusing our goodwill," have threatened to reduce the number of nurses assigned to emergency rooms and intensive care units during the walkout now in its 13th day.

Officials of the California Nurses Association said Tuesday night that a decision would probably be made today after a survey of the 41 struck hospitals in the San Francisco Bay Area and Sacramento.

A CNA spokesman said he had reliable reports strikers, working under a voluntary agreement on a rotation basis, were being used in the critical hospital areas to free supervisory personnel to perform "unnecessary" duties. He said, "The hospitals are misusing our goodwill."

About 4,400 nurses were on the picket lines. However, the hospitals were operating at only a 50 per cent patient population, and there were no serious problems reported.

A pivotal issue in the strike was a demand by CNA that nurses be allowed to participate in the staffing decisions at the hospitals. The hospitals said this was the responsibility of doctors and the administrations themselves.

Negotiations under the guidance of the state Conciliation Service were broken off the past weekend with no new date set for further bargaining. However, state Industrial Relations Director Ed White Tuesday sent telegrams to both sides asking for an immediate resumption of talks.

Representatives of the hospital associations rejected a three-pronged proposal from the CNA for settlement of the strike. The hospitals said the proposal was "unnecessary, time consuming, counterproductive and unacceptable."

CNA President Irene Pope said the strike would be over if the hospitals agreed to mediation arbitration, to bargain in the presence of a citizens' committee and to allow federal mediator William J. Ussery to participate in all talks.

Concern Over Burglaries By Ulster Businessmen

TOWN OF ULSTER

Burglaries at commercial establishments in the Town of Ulster are becoming a worry for businessmen, and they took up the matter to seek some solutions at Tuesday night's meeting of the Ulster Businessmen.

Robert Reagan, noting that there have been two break-ins at stores in the past week, said that the merchants have no positive answers but plan to seek advice from all law enforcement agencies in this jurisdiction, the town constables, Sheriffs Department, and State Police.

And the Ulster Businessmen's Association, now approximately 20 years old, is embarking on a membership drive, aiming to include a substantial number of Town of Ulster Businesses to strengthen the organization.

This will hopefully be kicked off with a buffet suppr for the town merchants in the near future, with follow up, said Regan.

He said the group was also keeping up on its "pet project," the widening of Ulster Avenue Mall (Route 9W) to four lanes through the heavily congested areas south of Route 209 to the city line.

Two youngsters from the Stockaders presented the businessmen with a resume of the aims of that group of youngsters. Appearing in Colonial costume, they explained the aims of the Stockaders as preserving historical remembrances of Kingston's Colonial heritage.

FOR STREAKING IN THE RAIN — Worn and torn, this windshield wiper blade could have been the beginning of a rainy day tragedy. If you're not sure whether or not your wiper blades are able to give you smear-free vision in a downpour, give them a test. Use your windshield washers to wet the glass, turn on the wipers and watch for streaking or smearing. Car Care Council suggests replacing worn blades with new ones when the weather is clear, to be prepared for the next downpour. (Car Care Council photo)

Seeks Exemption on Deposit Interest

H-V Federal Savings Petition

KINGSTON — Hudson Valley Federal Savings and Loan Association, 235 Fair Street, is conducting a drive to collect signatures on a petition urging Congress to pass a bill which would allow a tax exemption on the interest on deposits in savings institutions, it has been announced by Robert E. Deitrick, president.

Customers as well as non-customers are invited to sign the petitions which are available at all offices of Hudson Valley Federal, Deitrick said.

The bill, H.R. 14859, introduced in the House by New York Congressman Lester Wolff, would exempt from income the interest on savings of up to $400 for an individual. In the case of husband and wife filing a joint return the exemption would be up to $800.

"The bill would provide a much needed tax break for the average American family which has been hit the hardest by spiralling inflation", Deitrick noted.

Savings and loan associations and savings banks are the nation's major source of funds for home mortgage financing and the tax break proposed in the bill would provide a further incentive to savers in these institutions and help provide much-needed financing for the ailing housing industry, he pointed out.

Deitrick urged the public, whether customers of Hudson Valley Federal or not, to come in and discuss the bill and its importance to the individual saver and the nation's economy.

Peak 'n Hollow Inn

New Restaurant in Midtown

KINGSTON — The metamorphosis took a mere two weeks and now Kingston's newest restaurant, The Peak 'n Hollow Inn stands new and completely remodeled, at 602 Broadway.

Though the change was rapid it was no simple affair. Pleasing the people who dine at The Peak 'n Hollow shouldn't be too difficult because there is so much to like about it. The decor is a pleasing mix of a rustic old world look accented by a touch of the present. The dining area has thus taken on a warm, cozy atmosphere while at the same time it affords patrons privacy at their tables.

The menu is varied and has something for just about every taste. After you've chosen a soup and a delicious appetizer you can order from a menu that offers items from steak to sea food to Italian side dishes. Perhaps not as famous as Tinker to Evers to Chance, but a great deal more satisfying to area gastronomes.

So if dining out enters into your plans in the near future, you'll probably want to try The Peak 'n Hollow Inn. Anytime is the right time. There are luncheon specials daily and dinner is served seven days a week until 1 a.m.

"We're proud of our new place and would like to welcome people to The Peak 'n Hollow anytime they choose to visit," says Frank Guido. "We think there's something here for everyone whether it's lunch, dinner or a late evening snack."

The words of The Peak 'n Hollow Inn's jingle might sum it up best . . . "We serve good food as the drinks go down at The Peak 'n Hollow Inn."

Onteora's Mary Rickard... Her Dream Is Fulfilled

SYRACUSE — A one-time Shandaken resident and a former track star in her own right while a student at Onteora Central School in Boiceville has made another choice.

And for Mary C. Rickard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Rickard, who recently moved to Heritage Village in Southbury, Conn., from Shandaken, this second choice was a little tougher to make in some respects.

Mary's first choice came while still in junior high school when she was torn between a career in the service or a career with an airline.

She bowed to the wishes of her parents who convinced her to complete her college education prior to making any decision on her future career. But it wasn't an easy decision as she had been interested in joing the service of her country for a long time.

But as it has turned out, Mary's decision was a smart one and it recently came to fruition.

Miss Rickard, a graduating senior at Le Moyne College in Syracuse, last month took the oath familiar to so many men and women in former years — I, Mary C. Rickard, do solemnly swear that I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States . . ."

And with this oath, the former Shandaken resident had her dream fulfilled — being commissioned a second lieutenant in the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve.

Strikingly feminine in her dress whites, one would not have suspected that this poised young woman was quite an athlete in high school where she ran the 440 and 880-yard dashes and the low hurdles. As a sophomore at Onteora Central, she broke the county high jump record and then eclipsed her own record during her senior year at school.

It was obvious to many that this new woman marine was very anxious to begin her active duty status come August.

"I know the Marine Corps doesn't promise me a rose garden," Mary said, but added "I'm ready for the challenge."

In order to get an idea of what the Corps would be like and to find out if she actually qualified to be a Marine officer, she attended an eight-week training screening program last summer following her junior year at Le Moyne.

Commented Ingrid M. Pranger, USMC, the woman officer in charge of selection for the northeastern U.S.:

"Miss Rickard attacked the officer candidate program with a tremendous amount of enthusiasm. It's the kind of 'can do' attitude which really distinguishes Marines and Mary certainly possesses it."

And Captain Pranger went on to say that she was sure Mary's "Gung Ho" attitude helped her to come in ahead of all other women officer candidates from the region during last summer's training at Quantico, Va.

Second Lt. Rickard will begin her three years of active duty by returning to Quantico for further basic training and after that there may be more schooling in the military occupational specialty to which she will be assigned.

And Mary counters with "I'd really like to get into the air traffic control field," referring to her earlier decision between service and the airlines. "I hope that with air traffic control, I'll be able to combine both of these interests," she commented.

KINGSTON — A Kingston-based U.S. Army Reserve unit recently performed its annual training at West Point.

Company D of the 854th Engineer Battalion (Construction) is home based at Dietz U.S. Army Reserve Center, 144 Flatbush Avenue.

Company D, located at Camp Natural Bridge on the West Point Military Reservation, provided five-ton dump trucks, dozers, graders, a wrecker and numerous pieces of supportive equipment and personnel to insure the completion of road improvement projects. The company also excavated, hauled, compacted and grade filled to stabilize subgrades for range roads.

Lefkowitz Urges Support for State's GOP 'Team'

By LYNN MULVANEY

ELLENVILLE — Even though national issues such as Watergate are creeping into the New York State campaigns, Republicans "must not be on the defensive," Attorney General Louis Lefkowitz warned Tuesday at a press conference at the Nevel Hotel in Ellenvile.

He said he hoped the voters would differentiate between national and state issues and recognize the long list of accomplishments the GOP slate has chalked up.

"Al," he said, speaking to Ulster County GOP Chairman Albert Spada, "this time we have to go with the team or we can't win." By the team, Lefkowitz meant Gov. Malcolm Wilson, Ralph Caso, candidate for lieutenant governor; Lefkowitz, U. S. Senatar Jacob Javits and candidate for comptroller Stephen May.

He said the slate is made up of individuals have have the knowledge, experience and affiliation with government and have impressive records in legislative oriented matters.

He urged fellow Republicans to "work a little harder" this year and appeal to the Democrats and Independents as well as the GOP voters.

Pledging a hard-hitting campaign, he said of the team, "no one of us takes people for granted."

Lefkowitz spoke of his own record as attorney general over the past 18 years listing a number of his accomplishments such as opening consumer centers in New York City and making plans for additional ones throughout the state.

"My name is synonymous with the word "consumer," he suggested, telling of how he helped outlaw pyramid sales and recommended legislation concerning the return of unordered merchandise, among other laws.

Ulster County Highway Superintendent Jose Camallonga Jr. conferred with Lefkowitz briefly, seeking an additional allotment of gasoline for the county. Asking for 7,500 more per month than it presently receives, Camallonga said that the additional fuel is needed because the highway department now services cars of other departments such as the health and district attorney offices, in addition to its own.

Lefkowitz' appearance in Ellenville coincided with a convention of the New York State Consumer Finance Association which he addressed earlier.

He told of his declination of an offer to run for lieutenant governor saying he still had more he wanted to accomplish as attorney general. Among his future goals are the licensing of television repairmen and builders. He favors the institution of class action suits and a compulsory private pension plan system.

With regard to blue laws, Lefkowitz suggested that the average citizen would like to see the blue laws overhauled, examined and given a long hard look. Many of the old laws on the books are not applicable today, he said.

He told of fighting the Public Service Commission with regard to rate hike increases by utilities. "Anything unjustified, we fight," he said, telling of oil companies such as Exxon, Mobil and Shell who are presently faced with court proceedings for such things as allegedly reducing competition, diversion of home fuel oil and possible violation of the anti-trust law. He said there are now some pending grand jury proceedings with regard to one particular oil company.

He urged the creation of a federal agency to compile data with regard to products such as fuel oil which are necessary to the economy, jobs and health of the nation so that when crises arise in the future the government will know what can be distributed where.

Dems Gain Control in White Plains

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP) — Republicans are out of power for the first time in decades in this Westchester County city, losing a special election for two vacant seats on the Common Council.

Democratic victors in Tuesday's special election were Wirth Keonig, 58, a lawyer, and Mrs. Mary Ann Keenan, 46, a housewife. They defeated six opponents, including Republicans Robert Ruger and Arthur Kellman.

Both said local problems, rather than national GOP woes, accounted for their victory, but Keonig, at a victory celebration added: "Watergate certainly wasn't a detriment."

The two vacant seats were created by resignations. The partial council of two Republicans and two Democrats deadlocked on most important issues, including the election of an acting mayor. Four votes are needed to pass council business.

This left the city of 50,000 without an effective government when the powerless acting mayor resigned in May, and Gov. Malcolm Wilson ordered a special election.

Meanwhile, in another election across the Hudson River in Rockland County, a special election gave the Democrats control of all five trustee seats on the Spring Valley village board.

Jerome Monkarsh, a Democrat, defeated Alfred Murphy, who is a registered Republican but ran as the candidate of the United Village Party.

There are 23,065 eligible voters in White Plains and enrolled Republicans outnumber Democrats 2-to-1.

The unofficial final results gave Mrs. Keenan 4,126 votes and Keonig, 4,309. Both were also the Liberal Party designees.

Ruger received 3,423 votes and Kellerman 3,136. The other four candidates and their votes:

—Charles Bachman, Conservative, 773.

—Mrs. Carmelita Grieco, Conservative: 845.

—Dr. Julius Berger, independent: 202.

—David T. Landrigan, independent: 166.

The first vacancy on the council resulted when Carl J. Delfino resigned his seat after he was elected mayor. He was hospitalized three days after taking office and has not participated in city government since.

Councilman Harry Gordon created the second vacancy when he was elected acting mayor and then resigned.

Mrs. Keenan said that a first order of business for the full council would be the election of an acting mayor.

'Little Dolls' ...One Dead

ROCKY POINT, N.Y. AP) — "They were like little dolls in a battle scene."

That was the picture one school official provided Tuesday after an out-of-control automobile ran down a group of second graders during their end-of-the-year athletic exercises at their Long Island school.

Dennis Haggerty, 8, died about seven hours after the accident.

Seventeen other children were hurt. Thirteen were admitted to hospitals, including two listed today in critical condition at Mather Memorial Hospital.

All were resting in the schoolyard of the Joseph J. Edgar School when a car plowed through a chain link fence, hurling some kids away and running over others.

Suffolk County police said the car had swerved to avoid another vehicle on Route 25A and struck the rear of a car in front of it before careening into the crowded playground.

"I saw my son come out from under a fender, on his hands and knees almost, and he came running to me and I was running to him," Mrs. George E. Wright II said. Her 8-year-old son, Donald, required stitches for head wounds.

"People from their cars came out and were helping lift the car off the other children underneath the car. It was just so fast that everything happened," she said.

Police identified the driver of the car as Ilona Rappaport, 46, of Miller Place. She was unhurt and no charges were placed against her.

Frank Caracetti, the school principal, said he has been trying for 10 years to get traffic signals placed around the building and finally gave up eight months ago.

"We have been pleading for traffic controls and we have been constantly rebuffed by county, state and local officials," Caracetti said.

The children, all about 7 and 8 years old, were on the school grounds with about five dozen classmates for an informal field day.

Mrs. Wright said a 50-yard race had just ended and that she and a teacher directed a group of youngsters, including her son, to sit against the fence to take advantage of a shady area.

Still listed in critical condition early today were Ann Strittmatter and Roy Tericomi. Karen McGuire's condition was listed as fair.

Ford Closes More Plants

DETROIT (UPI) — The Ford Motor Co. closed three more assembly plants today, bringing to 22,750 the number of workers idled because of a week-old strike that has interrupted the flow of parts from a key Illinois stamping plant.

With the closing of car plants at Atlanta, Ga., and Loraine, Ohio, and the Michigan truck plant at Wayne, Mich., nine of Ford's 20 North American assembly plants will be closed before the end of the week.

Negotiations between Ford and United Auto Workers local 588 resumed Tuesday on the eighth day of the strike by some 4,000 workers at the Chicago Heights plant. It turns out hoods, doors and roofs used on almost every Ford car as well as 80 per cent of Ford truck body parts.

The interrupted production comes as Ford is beginning to recover from the winter sales slump and will halt deliveries on many orders. Sales in the first three months of the year were off 24 per cent from 1973, but were down only 19 per cent in the last 60-day period.

The dispute, which began June 11, cost Ford production of 4,000 cars and 5,000 trucks last week and will result in lost output of 22,500 cars and 8,700 trucks this week if there are no further plant closings.

The Atlanta plant, with 2,800 hourly employes, builds Ford Torinos and Mercury Cougars; the Loraine plant, with 4,000 workers, assembles Torinos and Mercury Montegos; and the Michigan truck plant, with 2,000 workers, assembles light trucks and Broncos.

Already closed this week were car assembly plants at Los Angeles, Calif.; St. Thomas, Ont.; St. Paul, Minn.; and Kansas City, Mo.; as well as the truck plant at Oakville.

Circus Slated In Woodstock

WOODSTOCK — For the first time in many years Woodstock will have a circus day of its own.

The Roberts Bros. Circus will be in town Monday, July 1, under the sponsorship of the Woodstock Rotary Club. Tickets may be purchased in advance from any Rotary member or from local merchants. The sponsor makes a greater profit on advance sales and proceeds are earmarked for the Student Loan Fund.

Shows will be at 6 and 8 p.m.

Clinic in July

The Saugerties Immunization Clinic conducted by the Ulster County Health Department will be cancelled for the month of June. The next clinic will be held July 24.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market, continuing to drift, opened lower in light trading today on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average was off 0.24 at 830.02 shortly after the opening. Declines led advances, 76 to 62, among the 244 issues crossing the tape. Turnover amounted to more than 200,000 shares.

Trading has been extremely light in recent sessions, reflecting investor concern over rising interest rates and a lack of background news. Turnover Tuesday was slightly more than 10,000,000 shares.

Return Good Turn

KINGSTON — Most people think of Scouts when they hear the term "Do a good turn daily." Recently, the Girl Scouts of Ulster County Council had a good turn returned when two units of the National Campers and Hikers Association of America participated in a work weekend at the council's camp near Walkill.

The Huguenot Hobos of Highland and the Apple Worms of New Paltz joined Girl Scout families to ready Camp Wendy for the four sessions of resident camp beginning July 7. A total of 78 persons were on hand, according to Mrs. Harry Foster, site development chairman. Types of jobs accomplished by the volunteers included carpentry, electrical work, mowing, cleaning, wood-cutting, and even the installation of Purple Martin houses.

The four sessions of camp, which are open to all girls from age 7 up, include special emphasis weeks. Registration forms maybe obtained from the Girl Scout Council Office, 411 Washington Avenue.

30-YEAR PIN — Mrs. Frank Graney presents Mrs. Joseph Kain (C) with her 30-year pin in Girl Scouting. Mrs. Kain has been committee member and publicity chairman throughout those 30 years and has attended all American Heritage trips and assisted the troops in all major activities. Looking on is Mrs. Charles Kinkade, a committee member for 27 years. (Freeman photo by Haines)

DE BRUCE SELECTEES — Marjorie Dunbar, chairman of the Marbletown Environmental Conservation Commission, congratulates Daryl Hoffman, member of Stone Ridge Boy Scout Troop 16, who will go to Lake De Bruce, one of the state's environmental education camps. George Dudar of High Falls Troop 24 also has been selected for the July 21 week's trip under the sponsorship of the commission. Joining Hoffman and Dudar in the Photo is Peter Wells (L), alternate from Troop 16. The other alternate is Steve Staubly of Troop 24. Both troops furnished manpower for Commission paper drives during the year. Funds for the camperships came from the commission's sale of paper, glass and aluminum for recycling. Birth Rate Trends Reversed for Certain Ethnic Groups

NEW YORK (UPI) — The birth rate for poor, black, Mexican-American and Indian families in the United States is dropping more rapidly than the rate for mostly white families, reversing a historical trend.

The fall in fertility rates is documented in two studies to be published in the forthcoming issue of Family Planning Perspectives, the technical quarterly of Planned Parenthood's Center for Family Planning Program Development.

They were written by James A. Sweet, University of Wisconsin sociologist and Frederick S. Jaffe, Family Planning program director.

Despite the fact that the birth rate for minority and low-income families is taking a steeper dive than that for other families, the actual rate for the poor is still higher than that of more affluent Americans, and the rate of disadvantaged ethnic minorities is still higher than that of urban whites.

Sweet said the implication of the findings was that "a smaller share of American children, and perhaps a substantially smaller share, will be growing up in impoverished settings with large numbers of siblings."

He analyzed the comparative fertility declines of married women from various ethnic subgroups compared to urban whites between 1957-60 and 1967-70. He used data on the numbers of children under three living with their mothers as reported in the 1960 and 1970 U.S. Census.

Highlights of his study:

—The fertility of urban whites declined by about 27 per cent during this period. The childbearing of blacks fell by 37 per cent. Among American Indians, the childbearing fell 45 per cent; and among Mexican and other Americans of Spanish surname, by 30 per cent.

—For the blacks, fertility was reduced from 24 per cent above that of urban whites to 7 per cent; for American Indians, from 67 per cent to 27 per cent; for Mexican-Americans, from 47 per cent to 42 per cent; and for other Americans of Spanish surname, from 45 per cent to 39 per cent.

Jaffe found a similar pattern of decline. He ascribed some part of the more rapid fertility decline of lower than higher income women to the nation's organized family planning programs — serving 2.6 million women in 1972, some 90 per cent of them in lower income

Campaign Leaders

LAKE HILL — William Schechter, Democratic candidate for his party's nomination to represent the 27th Congressional district, has selected Frank Mankiewicz, former aide to Senators Robert F. Kennedy and George McGovern, to actively support his candidacy at fund raisers and on the campaign trail when he returns from a business trip to Europe.

Schechter also made the following announcements regarding his campaign organization:

● Louis Resnick, Ulster County legislator, Ellenville business leader and the brother of the late Rep. Joseph Y. Resnick, is coordinating the campaign in southern Ulster County under regional campaign director Harold Brown, Jr., the Ulster County Democratic chairman;

● Milton Levine, attorney, former chairman of the Sullivan County Board of Supervisors and former candidate for Justice of the State Supreme Court, is coordinating campaign activities in Sullivan County;

● Peter Rakov, director of marketing and communications for Rotron, Inc., Woodstock, and a former key aide in Resnick's first campaign for Congress, has been named campaign coordinator;

● Theodore Bassano, a Binghamton resident, recently assigned to the Owego school system and long active in Broome County and regional Democratic campaigns, will report to former Binghamton Mayor William P. Burns as coordinator of the campaign for Tioga County.

Kenneth E. Osterhoudt, of West Hurley, vice president of the Rondout National Bank, has been named campaign treasurer for Schechter.

Schechter also announced this week that Mrs. Mary Ellen Castiglione of Woodstock, is coordinator of campaign activities in Sullivan County.

"Both appointments are vital to the campaign effort," Schechter said. "The responsibility of campaign treasurer is magnified in this Watergate era, and we're most fortunate to have a man of Osterhoudt's abilities and integrity to keep our records in perfect order.

"Mrs. Castiglione already has performed her duties well. We have excellent support building in Sullivan County, where she has many key contacts from prior political and philanthropic work in that region, and she is responsible for a good deal of it."

PETER SALA

Sala Designated in 39th

POUGHKEEPSIE — Peter Sala has been unanimously designated state senatorial candidate for the 39th District by the Dutchess County Democratic Committee.

Sala said his campaign theme will be to stop the "tremendous wastes of taxpayers' money" on the state level and to "get Albany back on a business-like basis."

Upon acknowledging the designation Sala stated: "It is a shame that people in our state must fear the loss of their homes because of the crushing burdens of taxes . . . If I ran a businesss this way I would be bankrupt in a matter of months.

"Our priorities in Albany are out of order when we can provide $11,000 per year in pay raises for judges in our state courts while our schools are suffering and our taxes continue to rise," he stated.

Sala said he had visited "all corners" of the 39th District in the past few months talking to people, and said their main concerns are with the lack of response from elected officials who have been in the power structure so long that they have lost touch with the people.

"I pledge to be as responsive to the electorate as I have been for the past nine years," he promised.

Amnesty Stand By Resseguie

BINGHAMTON — "I am disturbed by false reports regarding my stand on amnesty which are currently circulating in Ulster County," Franklin B. Resseguie, candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress in the 27th District said today.

Resseguie said he "totally opposed to amnesty for those who evaded service during the Vietnam conflict."

The Broome County attorney who served 5 years as an Air Force Fighter Pilot and another 17 years in the Air Force Reserve, said, "The law should not compel anyone to serve unless those who refuse to serve are penalized."

Amnesty would dishonor millions who have served their Country honorably the Binghamton Attorney believes. "Our country is already seriously divided," Resseguie said. "Granting amnesty would only divide it further."

McHugh Endorsed By Upstate Dems

ITHACA — Tompkins County Democratic Committee has voted to endorse Matthew F. McHugh for the Democratic nomination for Congress from the 27th District.

McHugh, is a practicing attorney and former district attorney of Tompkins County. The District includes half of Tompkins County, with the City of Ithaca as its population center.

McHugh said that he was gratified by the endorsement and that he was also doing well in other counties of the district. McHugh faces three opponents in the Sept. 10 primary, Robert Kropp and Michael Sloan of Broome County and William Schecter of Ulster County.

Farm Books Now Available

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Congressman Howard W. Robison (R-27th) has announced that he has available about 700 agricultural yearbooks dating from 1948 through 1970. He said any of the yearbooks are available to his consttituents on a first come, first served basis.

The yearbooks available include: Grass (1948), Crops (1950), Plant Disease (1953), Marketing (1954), Land (1958), Food (1959), Power to Produce (1960), After a Hundred Years (1962), A Place to Live (1963), Farmers World (1964), Science for Better Living (1968), Food for Us All (1969) and Contours of Change (1970).

Constituents can request the books through Robison's office in the Rayburn House Office Building, Washington, D.C.

Privacy Legislation Aimed at Data Banks

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 1.25 billion pieces of information about American citizens have been collected in information data banks by 54 federal agencies, Congress has been told.

The statistics were contained in a 4,000-page report released today as the Senate Constitutional Rights subcommittee started work on privacy legislation.

"The most significant finding is that there are immense numbers of government data banks, littered with diverse information on just about every citizen in the country," subcommittee Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., said of the report.

The subcommittee says it is attempting to protect individual privacy against undue encroachment by data banks maintained by federal, state, local and commercial agencies.

"As each new data bank is created and each additional bit of personal information is recorded, that precious sphere of privacy in which an individual can do as he pleases without outside interference is slowly but surely whittled away," Ervin said in a prepared opening statement.

The survey said there were at least 858 federal data banks, of which 86 per cent are computerized. It said the great majority were established without legislative authority.

The report also said about 29 data banks are concerned primarily with negative information, including agency blacklists, intelligence and civil disturbance files.

Ervin called for legislation to include these safeguards:

—Explicit legal authority for the creation of each data bank as well as legislative approval for each decision to computerize files.

—Notifying subjects that personal information about them is stored in a federal data bank and providing opportunities to review and correct the records.

—Limits on the exchange of data bank information between agencies.

—Strict security precautions to protect the data banks from unauthorized or illegal access.

—Continued legislative control over the purposes, content and uses of government data systems.

Loans Compared

Interest rates on home remodeling loans are higher than on a mortgage for buying a home. But the total of interest paid for remodeling will be less, because this type is paid off faster.

559-Mile New York Thruway To Observe 20th Anniversary

ALBANY

The New York State Thruway is a huge success.

So said Thruway Chairman R. Burdell Bixby, noting that the Gov. Thomas E. Dewey Thruway (official name) will observe the 20th anniversary of the beginning of operations June 24.

He termed the 559-mile superhighway as "one of the most successful governmental enterprises in modern times."

Bixby's association with the superhighway began in 1950, one day after the Authority was created. He recounted, "Twenty years ago when the ribbon was cut opening the first toll station, the superhighway was hailed as an engineering marvel. Predictions were made that the road would provide fast, safe movement across the state for all travelers and that the economy of the state would be increased. These are no longer predictions. These are facts."

Citing reasons for his optimistic view of the road he said," It is self-supporting. Its debts are being paid ahead of schedule. Not one cent of taxpayer money is used in its operations."

And, "New Yorkers can be proud that they live in a state that has within its boundaries one of the premier highways of the world."

On June 24, 1954 the first toll section opened between Rochester and Lowell, west of Utica, a distance of 115 miles. The Authority itself pays the state for services rendered, just like any taxpayer. Since 1954 payments of more than $70 million have been made to the Division of State Police, the Department of Transportation, Civil Service, Law, Audit and Control, and the Office of General Services.

In addition, the state has received sales taxes based on sales of more than $7 million annually at gas stations and restaurants.

A growth industry itself, the Thruway Authority has 2,600 employes, including 800 toll collectors and 1,200 maintenance men. More than 300 of this number started with the Authority 20 years ago.

The Authority pays the entire cost of State Police Troop T, which consists of nearly 300 troopers and officers, and the Authority's 29 service areas employ as many as 2,000 restaurant and gas station personnel a year.

The Authority is not obligated fiscally to the state. On Dec. 31, 1970 the Authority paid the state $1.2 million, the last payment on its funds advanced by the state to finance construction before bonds were sold.

The Authority itself sold $972 million in bonds to finance construction; this is self liquidating from the proceeds of tolls and other income.

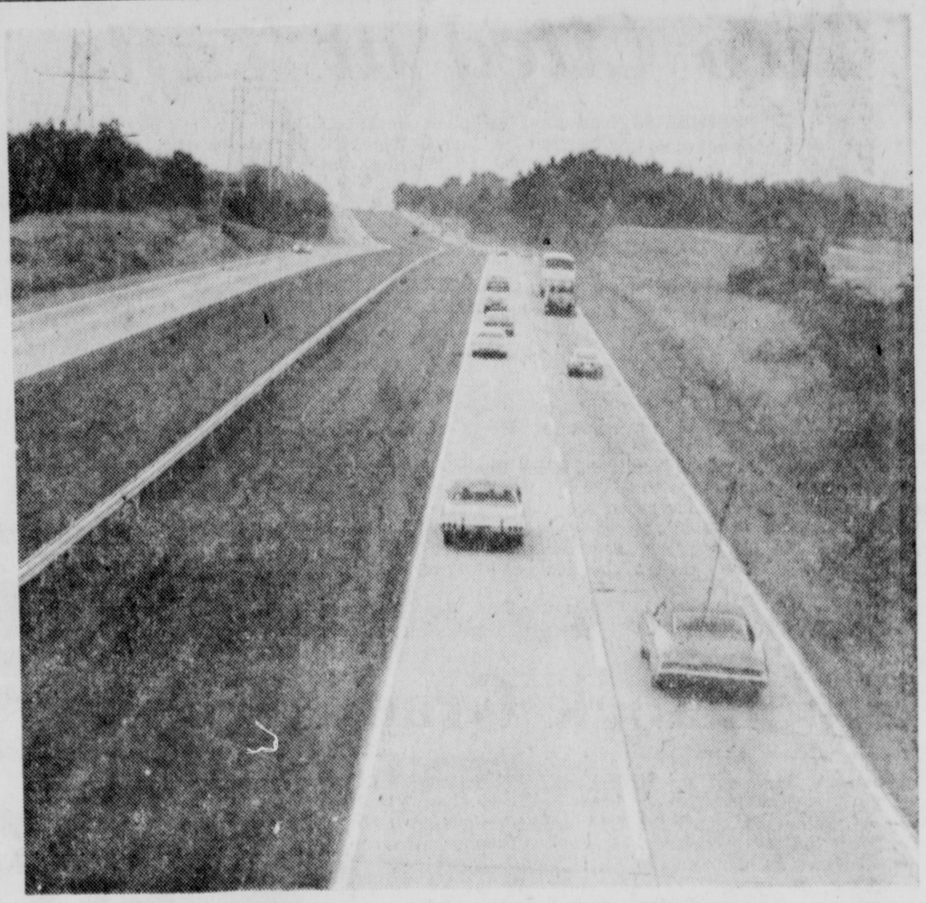

Construction of the Thruway was completed in 1960. It is the longest toll superhighway in the United States. It was named for Governor Dewey by the legislature in 1954 in recognition of his leadership in sponsoring the giant project.

The Thruway's 426 mile main line connects New York City and Buffalo, the state's two largest cities, and it makes direct connections with the Massachusetts and Connecticut Turnpikes, New Jersey's Garden State Parkway, and other major expressways leading to the midwest and to Canada.

Some 37 of the state's 62 cities, including the nine largest are located within the Thruway corridor that contains 85 per cent of the state's population.

Its safety record is rated "excellent," with a fatality rate in 1973 of 1.99 deaths per 100 million miles traveled.

The toll for a passenger car is an average of 1.7 cents per mile, a rate that has remained unchanged since 1959 and is one of the lower rates in the nation.

Letter of Intent Is Issued

NEW YORK CITY

The Power Authority of the State of New York (PASNY) has issued a letter of intent to the Babcock & Wilcox Company for purchase of a nuclear steam supply system and fuel for its new nuclear power plant, to be located at either Athens or Cementon in Greene County.

PASNY Chairman James A. FitzPatrick said the 1.2 million kilowatt plant would use a B & W pressurized water reactor.

Cost of the nuclear steam supply system will be about $50 million. Cost of the first fuel core and three reloads will be about $50 million for uranium ore and fabrication.

Total cost of the plant, not including fuel or transmission facilities, will be about $700 million.

FitzPatrick said the authority expects to seek proposals from manufacturers of turbine-generators and certain balance of plant equipment later this year.

The plant is scheduled for completion in 1982. FitzPatrick said the environmental studies that have been underway in the vicinity of both Greene County locations thus far have indicated that construction of a nuclear plant would be compatible with the environment at either site.

Vassar Summer Courses

POUGHKEEPSIE

Vassar College has scheduled a group of innovative summer courses, including an all-day narrated boat trip along the Hudson River.

The July 15 trip along the river is designed as a case study of man's relation to his environment. Buses will leave Vassar at 7 a.m. for Yonkers, where the boat will be boarded for the daylong cruise. The last day of registration is June 24. Narrator will be professor of geology John H. Johnsen.

Some geology excursions will be conducted by Associate Professor of Geology Jerome Regnier Aug. 3, 10, 17, and 24. On those Saturdays, students will learn how to interpret geologic features, structures, rock types, and history of the region. The fee is $75.

Field archaeology sessions from June 24 to July 26 will be held by Assistant Professor of Anthropology Lucilee Johnson. On Tuesdays she will conduct lecture-laboratory meetings at Vassar and on Wednesdays she will take students to the Orange County Indian site that has been occupied periodically for the past 10,000 years. Professional techniques for the excavation of archaeological sites will be learned in the field.

As in all of Vassar's summer offerings these three programs carry no credit. There are no examinations, no prerequisites, no papers.

Other courses will also be offered in art, biological sciences, foreign languages, literature, music, physical sciences, philosophy and religion, social sciences, and writing.

'Health' Hearing for Woodstock

By TIM SCHUSTER

WOODSTOCK — Town of Woodstock residents will have the opportunity July 8 to voice their opinions on whether or not they want to include a health service facility in their zoning law.

The matter was brought up by Supervisor Vern May at Tuesday night's board meeting, noting that the amendment to section 3A of the law would allow construction of such a facility as a permitted business use, to join such uses as veterinarians, night clubs, and stores.

May said the board has been "struggling with the problem for six months," and a specific plan under consideration by some medical practitioners would have the building constructed and used by doctosrs.

He said he would rather release the details of such a plan through the usual channel of the Planning Board. The hearing will begin at 8 p.m. in the town hall.

One resident present said he felt that the needs of the town have changed since the original zoning law was implemented in 1965, and he was happy that the board considered it to be feasible. Others expressed similar sentiments.

In other business, May reported that the State Department of Transportation will be recovering Route 212 though the center of the business district this summer, during the last week of July or the first week of August.

"We will be inconvenienced for about five days, but we need it done," he said. The town road sweeper, which has been idle thus far this season, will be brought into use as soon as a qualified operator can be found and as soon as road work in certain areas is completed.

The State DOT said that if the time period scheduled could not be used this summer, it would probably be another two years before the road work could be done.

A woman identifying herself only as "Fern" of Family gave a report on what the social and philanthropic group is up to these days. She said they were getting about 35 per cent more calls this year than last, and are experiencing difficulties financially with county and state narcotics funding drying up.

Thus, Family is turning to membership in Ulster County Community Action Committee, and will probably know if that is successful in July; and is also seeking aid from the Ulster County United Way, with an expected answer by August.

The group is operating with an $8,000 deficit, and recently received an "emergency grant" of $1,000 from IBM for operating expenses. Long term goals include purchase of a building large enough to handle the many facilities included in Family.

The town board transferred $5,000 to "home relief," more than has been the custom in the past, said May. He emphasized that the town has no home relief problem of magnitude.

"There is not a person on home relief in this town that is not interviewed by me," he said, stating his philosophy that those who are capable are put to wrk for the town in some capacity. "It's their choice," he said.

And about $9,000 was transferred to a portion of the highway fund to buy a good, second hand roller for road work.

May said that the board will announce a date for the first public hearing on a sewerage proposal at its July meeting, stating that if sewerage doesn't go over, at least the surface drainage study, already half complete, will be used to provide a backup measure.

The board made following appointments: John Manello a two-year term on the Planning Board; Peggy Cole and Miron Kutcher new terms and Jules Vigliano reappointed to the Commission of Environmental Conservation.

An announcement on the use of Big Deep will be out this week, with the expected rate per family at $5 at the recreation and swimming area. A sign is maintained telling people to swim at their own risk, but no one is being chased out of the area by police.

It was noted that all town properties are closed at night, however, and people will be chased from them at that time.

It was announced that the town landfill will be open for six days a week during the summer, Monday through Saturday, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Challenge of Petitions Disputed by Attorney

By WADE BURKHART

NEW PALTZ — It is the opinion of the New Paltz Village Attorney that the petitions submitted to the village board demanding a referendum on trustees salaries cannot be ruled invalid for the reason they were challenged by a village trustee.

The petitions had been challenged at the special board meeting June 10 by Trustee John Logan, who questioned if the petitions had been properly witnessed. The petitions have the witnessing signatures on a sheet appended to each petition sheet, and not on the bottom of each sheet as specified by the Election Law.

Village Attorney J. Philip Zand, in a written opinion to the board dated June 14, advised that there was not sufficient reason to rule the petitions invalid.

In rendering his opinion, Zand cited a Second Department Appellate Division case—Rothstein vs. Healey—in which such an irregularity was ruled "not such a substantial leviation" as to invalidate the petitions.

The petitions were submitted to the village clerk earlier this month, and call for a referendum on the Trustee Salary Law adopted by the board in conjunction with the 1974-75 budget. The law raised the salaries of the trustees from $1,200 to $2,000 a year, and the mayor's salary from $1,800 to $3,000.

Zand had previously questioned if the petitions had enough signatures. He had ruled that the petitions needed 175 signatures, and they were submitted with 179.

However, Zand found one person had signed the petition twice. He said later that that was the only double signature he had found.

Village Clerk Robert I. Remsnyder must accept or reject the petitions, and inform the board of his decision.

If the petitions are accepted, and Zand's opinion clears the way for that unless additional objections to them are raised, the board must then decide if it wants to hold a referendum, or scrap the law.

If the board decides to hold a referendum, it can either hold it no sooner than 60 days from when the law was adopted, or it can wait until the next general election in the village, something not due until March of 1975.

Bicentennial Group Favors 'Package Plan'

By JON POWERS

KINGSTON — The Kingston Bicentennial Commission, responsible for planning and coordinating the city's celebration of America's 200th birthday, hopes to establish a "total package plan" of events and programs that involves all segments of the population.

At the commission's meeting Tuesday, John Warren presented a report based on his recent attendance at a seminar for Bicentennial committee members held in New York City. He emphasized to the commission members: "The Bicentennial is more than a birthday party; it can be a meaningful experience for the community."

Warren suggested that recent "facelifting" projects in Kingston — such as the Pike Plan on Wall Street, uptown urban renewal and the restoration of the historic Kiersted, Tremper and Hoffman Houses — can play an integral part in the city's Bicentennial celebration, and demonstrate that Kingston has a genuine commitment to preserve its historical flavor.

But Warren added that more can be done. Cited specifically was the uncertain future of the old city hall building on Broadway and the as-yet-unsuccessful attempts to restore the century-old homes on The Strand. Warren suggested that the local Bicentennial Commission participate in whatever way it can, and attempt to involve the entire community in preservation projects of that type.

He warned, however, that money is especially tight for whatever projects the Bicentennial Commission hopes to create. He noted that federal agencies don't have money available for large grants, and are instead attempting to stimulate local communities to raise money themselves for their own local programs.

Tuesday's meeting also included discussion on ways to involve minority and ethnic groups in the bicentennial anniversary celebration. To that end, the commission has tentatively scheduled a community-wide meeting for Sept. 17 to hear from those segments of the community, as well as church, civic and service organizations.

In a related matter, Warren also noted that some 30 foreign countries have expressed an interest in participating in the bicentennial celebration, possibly with touring folk festivals that would demonstrate the contributions that countless ethnic groups have made to America's growth and development over the past 200 years. Warren suggested that Kingston make a special effort to aturact a contingent from The Netherlands to emphasize Kingston's Dutch heritage.

In other matters, the commission:

- Tentatively set the weekend of Oct. 12-14 for its Designation Ceremonies (Kingston has been designated as a Bicentennial City because of its historical importance). The celebration will probably be held at the Senate House grounds in conjunction with the annual Fall Festival.
- Will recommend names to Mayor Francis R. Koenig for appointment to the commission to fill vacancies that now exist.
- Appointed several of its members to serve as judges for the essay, poster and coloring contests sponsored by Statewide Savings and Loan Association's "Liberty Bell" promotion.
- Will consider advertising Kingston as a stopping-off point for motorists heading for the the 1976 Olympic Games in Montreal.

Nuclear Show Draws Fire

SCHENECTADY — Citizens to Preserve the Hudson Valley and the Columbia County Survival Committee have issued a joint statement objecting to a nuclear energy telecast from WRGB-TV, the National Broadcasting Company affiliate in Schenectady.

In a letter to George Spring, WRGB-TV station manager, the two groups said: "We feel that this three-part program was not balanced; it omitted very pertinent information, gave misinformation, and presented conjecture as fact. In the interest of fair broadcasting standards, a copy of our letter is being sent to the Broadcast Bureau of the Federal Communications Commission in Washington, as well as to other interested parties."

The program in question concerned a proposal by the New York State Power Authority for a nuclear and possibly a fossil fuel plant in Greene County near the Ulster County line. The letter from the two conservation groups made point-by-point objections to certain segments, noting that a 20-year-old, 100-watt experimental nuclear facility at RPI had been used as basis for a statement that there have been no surprises, sudden and inexplicable surges of atomic power, and no leakage of lethal radiation. "This reactor might power one light bulb," the joint letter notes

Other objections concerned man-made radioactivity from nuclear power plants, alleged poor performance of cooling towers, radioactivity released in case of "meltdown" of the atomic pile, problems in disposing of radioactive wastes, and reported opposition to nuclear plants because PASNY would not pay taxes.

The letter concludes by saying—"Such a biased presentation raises the question of being self-serving. The fact that the General Electric Company is the owner of Station WRGB and the manufacturer of nuclear reactors indicates that fair broadcasting standards have been breached."

Districting Looms For Farm Lands

ALBANY — Two tracts of southern Ulster County farmland totaling nearly 14,000 acres have received the approval of the Agricultural Resources Commission of the State Department of Agriculture and Markets, in which is a step toward designating the areas as agricultural districts.

The ARC has found the two tracts, one located in the towns of Shawangunk and Gardiner, and the other situated in the towns of New Paltz, Gardiner and Plattekill, meet the state law requirement that they be primarily viable agricultural land.

William E. Bensley, executive director of the ARC, has advised the Department of Environmental Conservation of the approval for eighth and ninth proposed agricultural districts in Ulster County.

It will be up to the DEC to grant final state approval. DEC approval would then be forwarded to the County Legislature, which makes the final decision on designation.

Proposed District No. 8 incluces 9,495 acres in the towns of Shawangunk and Gardiner Only about one-sixth of the land is not currently under intensive agricultural use, according to the ARC.

The acreage includes 13 operating farms — most of medium to large size — which generate a local economic impact of about $2.5 million a year while providing 85 full time jobs.

Two of the farms generate output valued at more than $100,000 a year, and five more have output valued at more than $60,000 according to the ARC.

Eight of the farms are dairy farms, two are fruit tree operations, one is a vegetable farm, one is a large horse operation, and one is a large field crop farm.

Proposed District No. 9 includes 4,372 acres in the towns of Gardiner, New Paltz and Plattekill. According to the ARC, the 14 operating farms in the proposed district have an economic impact on the area of about $3.4 million a year, while providing employment for about 120 persons.

All but about 10 per cent of the land is already under intensive farming uses, the ARC said.

Eight of the farms are fruit operations, one is a dairy farm, two are engaged in vegetable production, two in field crops and one is a veal producer.

One of the farms has invested more than $100,000 in improvements in the past five years, and two more have invested at least $25,000, according to the ARC.

Church Women Review Projects

Kingston Church Women United have concluded a half year of meetings, work and service projects. Current officers include Mrs. Alma Gower, President; Mrs. Dora Mollenhauer, treasurer; and Mrs. Simon Lawrence, secretary. Four general meeting are held each year: April, June, October and December. Each church is urged to send at least two delegates to the general meetings.

Since the beginning of the year, Kingston Church Women United have celebrated World Day of Prayer and May Fellowship Day with local churchwomen participating in and planning the programs. Other services projects include the organization of Thursday singalongs at the Infirmary Annex with different churches participating each week. As a welcoming gesture, the women also prepare kits for migrant workers arriving in this community.

Religious education for the mentally handicapped is provided every Tuesday during the school year at Trinity Lutheran Church at 2:30 p.m. Mrs. Katherine Messersmith is director, assited by Mrs. Ruth Locke and Mrs. Martha Pearson.

The women also bake birthday cakes for Infirmary patients during the month of September. This year the group sponsored two children at summer camp.

Children's Home Officers Named

The new officers for the Board of Directors of the Children's Home of Kingston were announced recently. They include Mrs. Arthur W. Hazenbush, president; Nelson Burhans, first vice-president; Warren Simmons, second vice-president; Mrs. Kendall Vogt, recording secretary; Mrs. Herbert Gade, treasurer; and Mrs. John L. Alley, assistant treasurer.

In her charge to the Board and its new officers, Mrs. Hazenbush stated, "The Children's Home is committed to providing quality service to emotionally disturbed children and families. In our continuing efforts to maintain our high standards, we have undertaken the important task of self-studying in preparation for accreditation from the Child Welfare League." The study will involve a detailed analysis of the entire agency — its Board, staff, facilites, programs and services. Each committee on the Board will assume part of the responsibility for completing the study which began in March and will be finalized in October of this year.

Accreditation in the Child Welfare League will mean that the Children's Home will be among the 300 agencies in the United States who serve 50 per cent of the children receiving help from agencies in this country. Agencies like the Children's Home provide direct services such as residential treatment, day treatment, group home care and foster family care. In addition, family counseling is available at the Family Service Center which is partially funded by the United Way.

Mrs. Hazenbush continued, "It is our earnest desire that the new officers and Board will take up the challenge of setting policy for this agency whose structure and functioning depend on its ability to respond quickly and effectively to provide emotional rehabilitation to the children and families it serves."

DEAR ABBY: A few months ago I met and fell in love with the most beautiful girl I've ever seen. She liked me, too, and soon she was staying with me, cooking my meals and taking care of my apartment. It seemed like an ideal setup, but there is just one problem: she works days in a massage parlor, and is a call girl at night.

She makes more in one night than I make in a whole week, but she never has any money because she likes to gamble, and she gives ten per cent of her earnings to the church.

Is there any way I can get her to quit taking those calls at night? She says she loves, me, but she can't live on what I make.

A FOOL IN LOVE

DEAR FOOL: (You said it, I didn't.) So your lady love works in a massage parlor by day and is a call girl by night? When does she work you in? I'm afraid it's hopeless, unless you can make more, or she agrees to settle for less.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My problem is a peculiar one. I've been dating a very special young lady for the past two months. She is perfect in every way except for her elbows. They have got to be the ugliest matching pair I have ever seen. I've never mentioned this to her, but she must be aware of it because she keeps them hidden by long sleeves when possible.

I've met her parents only once and they both seem to have normal elbows so it's not hereditary. Could she have developed those ugly elbows through drug abuse? Or could she have had a vitamin deficiency when she was young?

I wouldn't hurt her feelings by asking her what happened to her elbows because I love her, but I wonder if you can tell me anything that might shed some light on the subject.

NAME WITHHELD
REQUEST

DEAR NAME: It's entirely possibe that the young lady's elbows are perfectly normal — it's your concept of ugliness that's far-out. As long as they bend in the right places and you say she is otherwise perfect and you love her, why not accept her as she is — elbows and all? I trust that you are a perfectly flawless man.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am 41 and my boyfriend is 43. We've gone together for six months, and have been considering marriage. We've both been married and divorced. I have worked for 23 years and have some money in the bank. Probably more than he has.

Out of curiosity mostly, I asked him if I could borrow $200. He said, "Yes, but you will have to sign a note." When I showed surprise, he added, "It wouldn't matter if it was my sister or brother. When it comes to money, I want a note."

I couldn't get over his attitude. Then I told him I really didn't need the money. I just wanted to see how he'd handle it, and he said I should write to you and get your option. So I'm writing.

CORKY

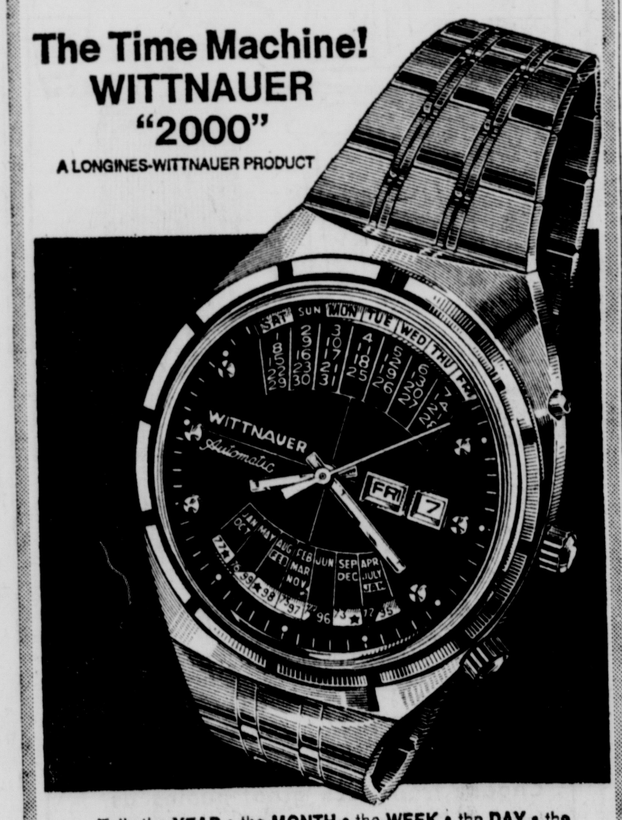

DEAR CORKY: I'm with him. A loan is a business deal, and he sounds like a hard-nosed businessman. I'll bet a lot more people regret not having asked for a note than regret having asked for one.

New Product Introduced... Designed to Dress-Up the Hotdog

WIENER WRAP SERVING IDEAS

Did you know that more than 15.6 billion hot dogs are consumed by Americans every year? This means we eat 3000 packages of hot dogs every minute.

To give the consumer a new alternative in serving hotdogs, Pillsbury's Refrigerated Foods Company is introducing a new product — Wiener Wrap — a refrigerated product designed to dress-up the hotdog!

This new product — available in plain, cheese, onion or Mexican flavors — is a soft, pliable sheet of dough, perforated to make five rectangles.

To prepare, the dough is easily wrapped around the hotdog and baked for 13 to 16 minutes. Serve this flavored "Wiener in a Bun" as a meal or snack item.

Each four ounce can yields dough for five wieners.

Wiener Wrap can be prepared in many fun ways. Select your favorite flavor dough, wrap around a hotdog and bake as label directs, using one of the following suggestions.

FRONT ROW

1. Cheese flavored Wiener Wrap; roll in chopped nuts then bake.

2. Plain Wiener Wrap with sauerkraut and apple filling. Top with additional sauerkraut to serve.

3. Mexican flavored Wiener Wrap with cornmeal coating. Serve with refried beans topped with sour cream and green onions.

MIDDLE ROW

4. Plain Wiener Wrap with hotdog wrapped with bacon, baked and topped with American cheese slice.

5. Cheese flavored Wiener Wrap brushed inside and out with barbecue sauce. Bake then split and fill with baked beans.

6. Onion flavored Wiener Wrap with hotdog wrapped in ham slice. Bake and top with Mozzarella cheese slice.

7. Cheese flavored Wiener Wrap sprinkled with dill weed. Serve topped with a white sauce or sour cream.

BACK ROW

8. Onion flavored Wiener Wrap with Parmesan cheese coating. Top with spaghetti sauce.

9. Mexican flavored Weiner Wrap; hotdog is split and filled with strip of Monterey Jack cheese. Bake then split top and fill with shredded lettuce and chopped tomato.

10. Onion flavored Wiener Wrap; hotdog split and filled with spaghetti; baked and topped with Mozzarella cheese slice and more spaghetti.

A NEW WAY OF SERVING A "HOT DOG IN A BUN."

Several Meat Specials Available Now at Markets

The slow downward — almost unnoticeable — retail price trend on pork, beef and poultry, underway since last February, continues. This trend has instigated a goodly number of specials that are real budget savers, worth searching out, according to the Consumer and Market Information Service of the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets.

This downward price trend is most evidenced by the many pork items on feature this week. Examples: liver at 58 cents and neck bones as low as 29 cents. Other good values are semi-boneless ham from 69 cents to 75 cents, smoked ham butt from 65 cents to 69 cents, shank 55 cents, and slices from 99 cents to $1.29. In the pork chop line, look for specials on center cut chops from 99 cents to $1.25, combination chops from 69 cents to $1.09, and in one section, rib chops at 88 cents and loin chops at 98 cents.

Other economical purchases are sausage (dependening on type) from 69 cents to $1.05, spareribs, regular and country style, 79 cents to 89 cents, bacon from 57 cents to 52 cents, and fresh shoulder picnic as low as 39 cents.

In the beef line, roasts will be thrifty buys, especially chuck roast from 69 cents to 98 cents, rump roast from $1.19 to $1.39, and standing rib roast from $1.25 to $1.35. Specials under a dollar a pound will be brisket corned beef as low as 59 cents, liver from 59 cents to 75 cents, frankfurters from 59 cents to 99 cents, ground beef from 75 cents to 99 cents, and short ribs from 68 cents to 70 cents. For the outdoor cooking buff, chuck steaks range from 69 cents to $1.18, and in one area, London broil, family and round steak will be featured at $1.59.

Poultry is expected to be featured in all areas. Broilers and fryers will get a good play from 35 cents to 43 cents, cut-up 40 cents to 45 cents, legs 40 cents to 69 cents, breasts 89 cents to 90 cents, roasting chickens 37 cents to 65 cents, and Cornish game hens from 49 cents to 59 cents. Sales on other poultry items, lamb and veal, if any, will be few and far between.

Helpful Food Hints

Wonderful topping for apple pie: chill an 8-ounce container of heavy cream mixed with ¼ cup packed light brown sugar and 1 teaspoon vanilla for an hour; beat until stiff.

Unless you use leftovers conscientiously, it is probably economical to buy the container that best fits your needs for a meal (or more meals, if planned), whether or not it is the best buy per serving.

Never leave a knife with a sharp blade in a pan of sudsy water in the sink where the blade can't be seen. Such a practice has led to many a cut!

When you're cooking on top of the range, make sure that pot handles do not extend over the edge of the range because when they're placed this way it's easy to knock the pans off.

ALLEY-OOP — Angels' Denny Doyle flips over as he scores with Yanks' Thurm Munson covering the plate during first inning of California's 3-0 win Tuesday night. Doyle came home when right fielder Bobby Murcer dropped a Frank Robinson fly ball. (UPI)

Nolan Wanted to Pitch... Angels Glad He Did

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Nobody wanted Nolan Ryan to pitch.

With the notable exception of Nolan Ryan, of course.

Given his choice to start or take an extra day off, Ryan chose to start—and the Angeles were glad he did.

The hard-throwing California Angel strikeout king, went six strong innings Tuesday and combined with Skip Lockwood on a five-hit shutout as the Angels dealt the New York Yankees a 3-0 reversal.

Ryan yielded three singles during his stint and struck out seven. That was enough for him to claim another record—the most strikeouts ever by a California pitcher, 859. Dean Chance, a former Cy Young winner, held the old Angel standard of 856.

Lockwood survived a pair of Yankee singles in the ninth to garner his first save of the year and give the Angels only their fourth victory in 15 games.

After throwing 235 pitches in 13 innings during his last start, it was doubtful whether Manager Bobby Winkles would let his ace go much further. But the manager's decision was made easy when Ryan developed a blister on his pitching hand in the sixth.

"That was a convenient excuse to get him out," Winkles smiled.

"That should make me stronger in my next start," added Ryan, who threw only 88 pitches against New York.

"I had a good curve and didn't have to throw many fastballs," Ryan said after improving his record to 8-6. "That helped a lot."

Loser Dick Tidrow, 5-6, of New York didn't get much help, especially in the first inning when two errors led to three unearned Angel runs.

Gene Michael dropped Denny Doyle's line drive to ignite the Angels in the opening inning. Moments later, Frank Robinson looped a two-out single in front of Bobby Murcer in right field and when Murcer bobbled the ball, Doyle scored.

A single by Joe Lahoud and a double by rookie John Doherty drove in the other two California runs.

Elsewhere in the American League, Bobby Grich slammed three homers at the Orioles routed Minnesota, 10-1; Chicago beat Cleveland, 7-3; Kansas City beat Milwaukee, 7-0, in the first game of a doubleheader before the second game was rained out; Texas blanked Detroit, 6-0; and Boston trimmed Oakland, 6-1.

Orioles 10, Twins 1

Grich, whose homer Monday night helped beat Minnesota, slapped a three-run shot in the third inning, a bases-empty drive in the fifth, and a two-run job in the seventh.

The slugging infielder had a chance to tie the major league record of four in a game, but grounded out in the eighth inning. Grich now has 11 homers for the season.

White Sox 7, Indians 3

Jim Kaat, backed by two home runs each by Dick Allen and Jorge Orta, notched his 200th major league career victory with a nine-hitter in Chicago's victory over Cleveland.

Kaat, 6-6 for the year, is 200-166 in his 13 major league seasons.

Royals 7, Brewers 0

Paul Splittorff pitched a two-hitter and Amos Otis and John Mayberry hit home runs to lead Kansas City over Milwaukee.

Rangers 6, Tigers 0

Jim Bibby fired a two-hitter, pitching Texas over Detroit. Bibby, 10-8, struck out seven and walked none in tying the Rangers' record for most victories in a season, a mark he now shares with Rich Hand, who was 10-14 in 1972.

Red Sox 6, A's 1

Bob Montgomery singled home a run in a three-run third inning and had two other hits to back Roger Moret's ten-hitter and lead Boston over Oakland.

BOUNCE IN HIS STEP — A jubilant Joe Frazier bounces his way to a press conference in New York Tuesday where he expressed his eagerness for a chance to win back the world heavyweight title he lost to George Forman last year. Frazier beat Jerry Quarry with a fifth round TKO on Monday. (UPI)

Ivan Murrell Responds to a Starting Opportunity

By United Press International

Hank Aaron's "caddy" says he's no beach bum and Manager Eddie Mathews of the Atlanta Braves is the first to agree and treat Ivan Murrell like a pro.

A 29-year-old outfielder-first baseman from Panama, Murrell plays for the Braves when Aaron is being rested for one reason or another. Hank can't play the full schedule because of a variety of aches and pains that afflict any 40-year-old athlete and also because he is running into a series of "Hank Aaron" days honoring him for topping Babe Ruth's home run record.

Mathews gave Aaron the night off Tuesday because the new home run king was honored by city officials in New York. That gave Murrell a chance to make a rare start and he responded by hitting a bases filled triple in the third inning which was the key blow in the Braves' 6-1 victory over the New York Mets.

The win moved the Braves into a tie with the Cincinnati Reds for second place in the National League West, six games behind the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"I'm enjoying this," said Murrell after the game. "This is the best thing that has ever happened to me. I was one of 12 outfielders on the San Diego club last April and they wanted to send me to Hawaii in the Pacific Coast League, but I had enough time in the league to say 'no.' I'm no beach bum. I was up the wall in San Diego because nobody told me anything. I'm happy in Atlanta because the manager is fair to me. I know my situation. But he tells me what's happening. Like he told me Monday I would play Tuesday night and so I was ready. Those things are important."

The Pittsburgh Pirates defeated the Dodgers, 2-0, the Houston Astros edged out the Philadelphia Phillies, 1-0, the Montreal Expos shaded the Cincinnati Reds, 2-1, the Cardinals downed the San Francisco Giants 3-0, and the Padres topped the Chicago Cubs, 9-4, in other National League games.

Murrell had appeared in only 27 previous games for the Braves this season and batted 56 times with a .250 average, no homers and one RBI. But he delivered the key hit with the bases filled after Met catcher Ron Hodges misjudged a foul pop by Darrell Evans, which would have been the third out. Roric Harrison went the distance with a seven-hitter for his sixth win, while George Stone suffered his fifth loss.

Pirates 2 Dodgers 0

Dave Giusti, making his first start after 255 relief appearances spread over a four-year period, pitched shutout ball for seven innings and won his second game with the relief help of Bruce Kison and Daryl Patterson. Bob Robertson and Gene Clines drove in the runs for the Pirates, who dealt 10-game winner Tommy John his second defeat.

Astros 1 Phillies 0

Tommy Helms' second-inning homer was the only run of the game and enabled rookie Mike Cosgrove, who took over with one out in the first inning and went the rest of the way, to win his second game for the Astros. Ron Schueler was tagged for his eighth loss against three victories.

Expos 2 Reds 1

Jim Cox homered in the ninth inning to give the Expos their victory over the Reds behind the two-hit pitching of Ernie McAnally. McAnally struck out seven while walking two in raising his record to 5-6, while Clay Kirby dropped his fourth game against five wins.

Cardinals 3 Giants 0

Alan Foster pitched a five-hitter and Lou Brock, celebrating his 35th birthday, singled twice, stole his 41st and 42nd bases of the season and scored two runs in the Cardinals' win over the Giants. Ron Bryant, the NL's only 20-game winner in 1973 when he had a 24-12 record, was charged with his eighth loss against two victories.

Padres 9 Cubs 4

Rookie Dave Freiseben won his sixth game for the Padres behind a 12-hit attack which included three hits by Dave Winfield. Bill Bonham lost his 10th game of the season despite homers by Jose Cardenal, Bill Madlock and Chris Ward.

Roadblock for Merger

NEW YORK (AP) — The possibility of merger between the National and American Basketball Associations apparently has been run into a temporary roadblock and both leagues again will operate as separate entities next season.

The NBA Board of Governors was scheduled to vote today or Thursday on the merger issue—after trying to choose between Los Angeles lawyers Alan I. Rothenberg and Henry J. Steinman Jr. to succeed the retiring J. Walter Kennedy as commissioner.

A vote of 14 members of the 18-man board was necessary for passage in both matters.

But an ABA owner, preparing for his league's meetings in Louisville, Ky. Thursday and Friday—a gathering that Commissioner Mike Storen has said would "give us our starting lineup for next season"—said he didn't think the NBA could get 14 votes for merger.

Among those NBA teams reportedly against merger are Chicago, Detroit, Los Angeles, Milwaukee, New Orleans and Seattle.

Kennedy has said he did not expect a merger to be negotiated at the week-long NBA meetings that began Monday. However, it is on the agenda.

With a consolidation unlikely, the struggling ABA likely may go with eight teams for the 1974-75 season, including New York, Indiana, Kentucky, San Antonio, Denver and Utah. The other franchises would be in Los Angeles and Cincinnati, two cities that did not have ABA teams last season. However, they would be acquiring existing ABA teams, with San Diego moving to Los Angeles and Carolina to Cincinnati.

That would mean the demise of the Virginia Squires, already under league receivership, and the Memphis Tams. Their remaining players then would be distributed among the other eight clubs in a dispersal draft, though George Thompson, the Tams' leading scorer during the 1974-75 season, already has signed with the Milwaukee Bucks of the NBA and Tams No. 1 forward Wilbert Jones reportedly has been signed by the ABA's Kentucky Colonels.

NHL Players Oppose Series With Russians and WHA

TORONTO (UPI) — National Hockey League players say they do not plan to play in either the proposed Canada-Russia eight-game series or the NHL-world Hockey Association 15-game exhibition series.

Alan Eagleson, executive director of the NHL Players' Association, made the announcements Tuesday after a meeting between the players and four NHL club owners.

Eagleson told reporters both the NHL and the players' association have rejected overtures from the WHA to join the Canadian team which is scheduled to meet the Soviets for eight games in September.

He said the WHA has made specific approaches to Boston Bruins' stars Bobby Orr and Phil Esposito and possibly to Philadelphia goaltender Bernie Parent to join the team.

"We don't think we are obliged to take part just to roll out the flag," Eagleson said. "We wish the WHA every success nevertheless."

He said the owners and players might reconsider their decision if the timing and structure of the proposed series were changed.

World Cup at Big Stage

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) — Steadily separating the good from the ordinary, the World Soccer Cup entered a crucial stage today for eight teams in the second half of the draw.

Sweden, Bulgaria, Uruguay, Holland, Italy, Haiti, Poland and Argentina all faced matches which could decide whether they become members of the elite last eight, or take part in the rest of the tournament as television spectators.

With 12 games played, this was the situation:

—West Germany qualified for the second final round.

—Australia and Zaire faced certain elimination.

—No South American team has yet won.

—Group Two has produced a thrilling cliff-hanger finale.

West Germany, the home team and favorite to lift the cup, beat Australia 3-0 Tuesday and when East Germany managed only a 1-1 draw with Chile, entered the last eight with a game still to play.

Chile, facing Australia Saturday while East Germany meets West Germany, was the favorite to accompany the home side from group one into the final stage of the tournament.

Ken Brown Fires Ace at Wiltwyck

KINGSTON

Kenneth Brown, a history teacher at Kingston High School, fired a career-first hole-in-one Monday at Wiltwyck Golf Club.

Brown aced the par-three 11th hole with a perfect 7-iron shot. Playing in his foursome were Dick Kalish, Brown's son, Mark Brown; and Roy Reid.

Pros Find Big Loot in the Catskills

By IRA FUSFELD

GROSSINGER

Gold in them thar hills? Not exactly, but there certainly were plenty of dollars floating around in the Grossinger's Country Club breeze the last two days. And $12,000 of it was for grabs Tuesday in the John Shippen two-man best-ball match play tourney.

The bulk of the cash wound up going to the duo of Jim Dent and Tommy Aaron which combined to beat defending champs Lee Elder and Jim Colbert on the first hole of a sudden death overtime.

The winners split the $7,000 first prize while the losers had to settle for half of $5000 each. Not bad for a day in the sun.

The loot for the two days, including a $30,000 pot which was split Monday in a celebrity pro-am tournament (won by veteran Peter Brown), was supplied by Tuesday Magazine, a publication which appears in many of the nation's newspapers and which looks to promote Black achievement in sports while at the same time hoping to show that White and Black golfers can compete in harmony.

It was for that reason that Tuesday's match play event was named for Shippen. Only the most knowledgeable golf buff would know that in 1896 Shippen, golf's Jackie Robinson, tied for fifth in the U.S. Open tournament after leading as late as seven holes from the finish.

"History," wrote W. Leonard Evans Jr., president and editor of Tuesday Magazine, "records Shippen as the first American-born golf professional."

With that as a backdrop, the tournament came here and drew top pros and amateurs in the spirit of competition. The match play contest brought together an extremely attractive quartet of PGA players and they didn't disappoint the gallery of some 100 fans who followed them around the 6,758 yard par 71 hilly terrain they call The Big G.

The Dent-Aaron team provided a good combination with the former's long ball hitting off the tee and the latter's steady play from tee to green. Colbert and Elder offered two all-around solid games.

Yet in the end it was Dent's short game, which he admits is "the weakest" part of his attack, that won it for he and Aaron.

Aaron had knocked in a 15-foot birdie on the par three 149-yard fourth hole to lift the team up by one. Then on the famous par five, 512-yard fourth, Dent bombed a long one to get in the position to reach the green in two, then puttted in a 25-footer from the fringe for an eagle three and a two-hole lead.

Dent's short game haunted him on the sixth and cost he and Aaron the hole just after Colbert had missed a short putt for a birdie. The 32-year old Dent, known as the longest hitter on the tour, was in position to par out on the 406-yard par four, but he blew a tap-in and his team's advantage was cut in half.

That's the way it stayed for eight holes. Then on the par four, 413-yard 15th, Elder sank a 10-foot putt for a birdie and the match was even.

Dent more than redeemed himself however. On the tough uphill 380-yard par four 17th, the big guy sank a 20-footer for a birdie after Elder had threatened to put his team ahead with a five-foot bird of his own.

When the four men halved the 18th sending the match into sudden death, it was Dent's 290-yard drive down the first fairway which set up a fine wedge to the green and a four-foot birdie.

Colbert and Elder each had a shot to halve this one but, both missed putts of 10 feet.

In the end it was the inconsistant putting of both Colbert and Elder which cost them the match. Colbert, in particular, though strong in most of the other facets of his game, had a tough time on the greens.

Aaron came out best financially for the two days. He took home $1,370 Monday to go along with Tuesday's $3,500. Colbert had won $942.86, Elder $330, and Dent $300 Monday.

Gold in the Catskills? Just the green kind.

Irwin Heads Classic Field

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — U.S. Open champion Hale Irwin is one of several top golf pros who will be competing in the $170,000 American Golf Classic which begins here Thursday at Firestone Country Club.

Although three of the tour's top five money winners—Johnny Miller, Hubert Green and Jack Nicklaus—have chosen not to try for the $34,000 winner's purse, the field does include Arnold Palmer, Tom Weiskopf, Lanny Wadkins, Open runnerup Forrest Fezler and defending champion Bruce Crampton.

The host pro of the 72-hole event is tour regular Bobby Nichols who says, "when you have a field as strong as this one, there is no way of knowing who will wind up on top.

"On a real championship course, like this one, no one will be sneaking into first place," said Nichols, whose $70,114 ranks him 15th on the official money list.

Leaks Will Miss Grid Season

HOUSTON (UPI) — University of Texas football coach Darrell Royal says all-American fullback Roosevelt Leaks, hampered by a knee injury suffered in spring drills, will definitely miss this season.

Doctors said at the time of the injury Leaks could not rehabilitate the knee in time to compete in 1974, but recently Leaks has said he thought the knee would heal in time.

"Every athlete I've ever been associated with has said he will be able to play on Saturday," Royal said. "Even if he breaks his ankle on Monday, he'll say he can play Saturday afternoon. And Roosevelt is no different.

"The orthopedic surgeon says that in his opinion the knee will not have had enough time to heal by fall practice."

Casual Jim Dent Really Hits Them

By STEVE KANE

GROSSINGER

Julius Boros became famous for his casual approach to a golf shot. Galleries would watch the paunchy pro stroll down the fairway, hardly pausing to take a swipe at the ball, then proceed at the same pace to the green where the shot would usually land.

So how come nobody says anything about Jim Dent? Dent is no less nonchalant, perhaps even more so. In a driving contest here Tuesday, Dent rifled a dozen shots off in the time it takes most people to line up a putt. It was all the more noticeable since his three opponents in the muscle test huffed and grunted and strained with all they had.

It was kind of a surprise when the forecaddies came up and said Dent came in second in the contest—by 10 feet. And the winner wasn't Jack DePaolo either.

Evan Williams, a tall assistant pro from Cedar Hill Country Club in Livingston, N. J., was declared the hitter of the longest drive. They said his big belt (one of only two of the 12 he hit that landed on the fairway), carried 366 yards.

Behind Dent in the standings was Dick Middleton, a representative of the Titleist Golf Ball Co. In last place was the Westchester Gorilla himself, DePaolo.

If there'd been a prize for total distance, there would have been no contest. Almost every one of Big Jim's shots was playable.

Dent didn't seem to care much about being outdriven, but he wasn't just hitting the balls away to get rid of them either.

"I just started playing fast when I took up golf," he explained. "I always play that way." He also said he'd learned to take a little off his swing for more accuracy. When was the last time you met someone who "took a little off" and bombed it 300 on the fly?

Well, Dent is for real. He proved it conclusively in the match that followed. With his seemingly effortless swing, Dent was 20 to 50 yards past the tee shots of the rest of his foursome. On every hole. And that group included Lee Elder, Jim Colbert and Tommy Aaron, who are not exatcly the kind you'd call hackers.

But Dent does more than hit the ball long. You don't get to the 45th place on the PGA money list with over 30 grand in your pocket unless you do.

"My long game was always my best," he said, "but I've really worked on my short game. Last year I played with a guy named Jim Brandt, he was a playing pro, in a practice round at San Antonio. He gave me a couple of putting tips, and I've won fifty thousand since."

Dent added a few bucks to that total at the Grossinger tourney, and he didn't do badly at all in last week's U.S. Open. "I was plus 24, but that was a supercourse . . . a great course."

And just prior to that, Dent had tied for eighth at Philadelphia. He's played in a lot of tournaments so far, but now he's taking a vacation.

"All I could think about last week was playing. Now all I can think about is going home (St. Petersburg, Fla.). I'll take a couple weeks off. I should be back for Endicott, the BC Open."

Like all non-exempt tour players, Dent finds that the travel and the Monday qualifiers are the toughest things to stand up to. He'd like to finish in the top 60 this year to avoid that rat race and points out he's had a good start, but he's not grinding his teeth over the outcome.

"Some guys get psyched up about winning or winning certain events. Some of the good golfers get like that for the major tournaments. It's gotta be an Open or a Masters for someone like Nicklaus or Palmer to feel that way. I'm not like that. I always want to do well and play my best. I guess I'm competitive in that sense."

The competitiveness showed at Grossinger's. During the best ball match, Dent was left to carry the load after his partner, Aaron, hit a poor approach to the uphill, 380 yard 17th. Elder, one of Dent's opponents, was already on in birdie range.

Dent punched his wedge over the front trap, but he slammed the club down once in disgust. He was 20 feet away and 15 feet outside Elder.

Elder used his team's honor to hole out and apply the pressure. Dent didn't falter. He rammed it home for a half and went on to can the winning putt on the 19th hole of the match.

At 6-3 and 230 pounds, Dent looks more like a tight end than a golfer. His experience, which consists mainly of his three years on the tour, is also unusual for a member of the PGA. Most of his "contemporaries" are a few years younger than Dent's 32 and have played in competition since boyhood.

Being black and a native of Augusta, Ga., didn't serve to accelerate Dent's career any, but he seems to be well on his way to making up for lost time.

Better Break for Female Athletes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's schools may not have to give women football scholarships, but they are going to change many of their policies to give female athletes more opportunities to compete in sports.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has made public its long-awaited proposed regulations interpreting and implementing sections dealing with sports under Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972.

The regulations, released Tuesday and to be published in the Federal Register Thursday, state: "No person shall, on the basis of sex, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, be treated differently from another person or otherwise be discriminated against in any physical education or athletic program . . ."

They say schools may have separate teams for males and females if selections for the squads are based on competitive skill. The schools also could have single teams open to both sexes.

If separate teams are offered, however, a school may not discriminate on the basis of sex in providing the necessary equipment or supplies, or in any other way.

HEW said the institutions do not have to spend equal funds for men's and women's teams.

Failure to comply could result in loss of federal funds to a school.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association, an organization of some 775 schools which virtually controls all varsity athletics, declined to comment immediately on the regulations.

Maneen Qualifies for State Amateur

A. J. MANEEN

ALBANY — A. J. Maneen of Wiltwyck Golf Club shared a three-way tie for third in the New York State Amateur district qualifying round Monday at Normanside Country Club.

Charles Murphy Jr., the Albany Country Club and Eastern New York Golf Association, fired a two-under-par 68 to take medalist honors. Sixteen golfers qualified for the state championship, with the cutoff figure at 77.

Maneen qualified in the Albany district, because he is committed to the Aurora Invitational on June 27, date of mid-Hudson district qualifier at his home layout at Wiltwyck.

The Coleman High ace made the turn in even par 35 with two birdies and two bogies. He ran into a double bogey on a par-three 227-yard hole and had another bogey to give with seven pars for his incoming 38.

Murphy toured the par-70 Normanside course in 33-35, collecting five birdies and three bogeys enroute to medalist honors. His longest birdie putt was a 30-footer on the 15th green.

Another Albany area standout, Dr. James Murphy of Wolferts Roost, was runnerup with 35-37-72.

Sharing the tie at 73 with Maneen were Dan Goodman of Shaker Ridge (36-37) and Dave Rihm of Normanside (34-39).

The other qualifiers:

Phil Spitalny, Colonie; George Bpuyer, Bluff Point, 74; Mike Fitzgerald, Winding Brook, 75; Ed Walczak, McGregor, 75; Ed Kutnik, Wolferts Roost, 75.

Wolven Pitches 12-Inning Shutout

SAUGERTIES — Mouse Wolven of Buono-McConekey turned in a classic pitching performance in the Slingshot Division of the Saugerties Softball League, shutting out Mahogany Ridge 2-0 in 12 innings. He allowed seven hits to gain the nod over Freligh, who yielded only five hits. Wolven struck out 11.

Wolven had another two-hitter in stopping Friendly Inn 4-2.

Frank Allen accounted for three straight wins for the Glasco Athletic Club, who lead the league with a 4-0 record.

Allen threw a 5-hitter against Friendly Inn for a 6-4 decision, blanked A.J. Farms 10-0 on one hit in a 4½-inning stopper and outdueled Billy Costello of Greco Motors 5-4 with a run in the bottom of the eighth.

A three-run sixth gave Glasco a 4-2 lead but the Motormen fought back with a pair in the seventh in the first meeting of the unbeaten teams.

However, in the bottom of the eighth, with the bases loaded and two outs, Costello walked Gabe DePoala on four straight pitches to force in the winning run.

Big blows for the winners were back to back triples by Marelli and Konopka during the sixth-inning rally. Bob Raucci had two singles and three RBIs for Greco's and Frank Sasso also singled twice. Allen has accounted for all four Glasco wins.

In his 12-inning shutout over Mahogany Ridge, Mouse Wolven consistently pitched out of jams, leaving 14 Mahogany runners stranded and fanning 10. Freligh had yielded only three harmless singles until the bubble burst in the fifth extra inning. B-M's Jeff Markle was the games only two-hit performer.

Earlier, Costello had outdueled Ed Pelham to give Greco's a win over Friendly Inn, tossing a two-hitter, while Pelham gave up only three.

Tom Greco singled home the deciding run in the fifth inning, while Buster Buel rapped an inside-the-park homer for the losers.

Mt. Marion Loop Plans All-Star

MT. MARION — Mt. Marion Knothole League has announced its All-Star Week from June 24 to June 30. The week will begin with an intramural all-star contest involving the league's thirty two top players.

Following that game, the best 15 players will be picked to play the Kingston Knothole League All-Stars at the Mt. Marion School on Sunday, June 30, at 1 p.m. Winners of this all-star game will be presented awards by the losing league.

The Knothole League, a four-team circuit, plays four nights a week at the Mt. Marion school diamond. The league is comparable to Little League, for boys between the ages of 8 and 12.

The Giants are currently leading the league with a record of six wins and two losses.

The standings:

Little League Roundup

Murphy: 6 Straight

LAKE KATRINE — George Murphy of the Kiwanis Yankees pitched his sixth straight victory without a loss, limiting the Turk Construction Braves to five hits in a 10-1 victory in the Town of Ulster Little League. He struck out 10 and walked only two.

Bill Werber of the Yankees and Craig Burnett of the Braves each had three hits.

Wayne Short of Nytralite Tigers beat Gerry Hladik of Conti Explosive Indians, 4-1, in a battle of two hitters.

Jim Schleede of Augustine Insurance blanked Lions Club 6-0 on three hits and nine strikeouts in the American Little League.

Duane Clinton of Augustine's allowed only one hit — a single by Tony Fuoco — to defeat Montgomery Ward 4-2. He struck out 11.

John Skinner's homer and a double and two singles by Don Downes paced Tigers to a 11-7 romp over the Giants in the Hurley Little League.

Kevin Michaels homered as the Method Tooling Mets scored a run in the bottom of the sixth to edge Ulster Auto Body Dodgers in the Saugerties Little League. Jim Berg struck a double and single for the winners.

DCC Care for Children Class

POUGHKEEPSIE — A three-session course on caring for children under three is planned at Dutchess Community College for the evenings of June 26, July 10 and July 17.

Offered in cooperation with the Dutchess County Department of Social Services, the course is planned to provide training for day care mothers certified by the department. These women provide care in their homes for children whose parents are working or in job training.

Topics to be covered by Mrs. Clare Graham of the college's nursery education program will include early personality development, physical care and routines, infant learning, games for babies, and toys that can be made from inexpensive or junk materials. The course is open to the public and information may be obtained from the college's Office of Continuing Education.

Four wonderful gift suggestions from Victor Borge.

"Princess® phone service makes a wonderful gift."
As a matter of fact, any extension telephone service makes a wonderful gift. For a daughter. Or a son. Anyone who lives with you. Even your mother. Come to think of it, they don't even have to live with you.

"Trimline® phone service makes a wonderful gift."
New York Telephone offers a work of art that can talk to you. The Trimline phone is a part of the permanent design collection at the Museum of Modern Art.

"Wall phone extension service makes a wonderful gift."
That's because too many rooms have four walls but no telephone. That goes for the basement, too. And I'm thinking of having a wall phone installed on my piano, which isn't even a room.

"Standard desk extension phone service makes a wonderful gift."
Extension desk phones come in red, yellow and other pretty colors for an additional charge.
And Touch-Tone® calling service comes with buttons that go "beep...boop...bip," instead of a dial. (Touch-Tone service is available in most areas at additional charge.)
Maybe the nicest thing about telephone service as a gift is that it's so easy to order. Just call your New York Telephone business office or ask your telephone installer. They can tell you all about colors and Touch-Tone service and applicable charges, et cetera, et cetera. Even better than I can.

Thursday, June 20

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You will find domestic problems tend to irritate and frustrate you today more than usual. Don't make it rough on others.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your attitude toward your work and co-workers at the present leaves much to be desired. Harsh words don't help.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be very careful with your possessions, else you might lose or have something that you prize taken from you.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You're apt to make everything you do today a much more difficult task than it really is. Try to be less demanding of others.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Be flexible or else you're likely to take a position on something that will back you into a corner. You'll have a tough time getting out of it.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) This is not a day when you will willingly share with one you're closely associated with. A problem over finances is likely.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Be extremely tactful as to how you use your authority today. If you're dictatorial you can expect negative results.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22) Your plans are likely to be thwarted today by conditions you have little control over. Jousting with windmills won't help.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Be on guard or you could be drawn into another's problems and wind up dipping deeply into your purse.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) An important association requires diplomatic handling at this time. It's precarious and could easily be tipped off balance.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Pace yourself where your work is concerned. Do as much as you can competently, but don't let your deadlines become tyrants.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your fondness for the good things of life may lead to your undoing. Overindulgence is a definite no-no today.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

WHAT IT TAKES: (Q.) Who says all men are created equal? Some people are born losers. The winners succeed at everything even trying. For the losers it is a waste of time to try because they always fail.

I'm a loser. I keep telling myself I am going to do my best but I just don't have what it takes. You have to be born with it. I tried out for cheerleading for three years. I never made it. I couldn't get a part in the junior snow.

I'm a failure with boys too. Once I thought I met a guy I really liked, but I should have known that that can't happen to me. Don't tell me to be optimistic. Why is it that some kids just can't win?—Loser in New York.

(A.) Anyone who is convinced that he or she is going to lose will be a loser. Anyone who believes that he or she can win has a chance to be a winner. It is not too late for you to change your way of thinking.

FIVE YEARS: (Q.) What do you think of a boy who finally acknowledges your letters after you have been writing him constantly for five years?—Answered at Last in Florida.

(A.) I think he must at least be more interested in you than he was. But I also advise you not to take anything for granted.

If you had asked earlier, I would have advised you not to write again and again to a boy who ignores you.

It is not in good taste and it is not good for your reputation.

South's jump to three spades was a slight overbid, but South had great and well-deserved confindence in his own dummy play.

West opened the king of hearts and shifted to the queen of diamonds. South won in dummy and paused to take stock. Things did not look at all good. He had lost one heart. Surely he had to lose at least one trump and one diamond and might well lose two cards in each of those suits.

You readers have been looking at dummy and can see that neither trumps nor diamonds are going to break, but South made his contract anyway.

He started by ruffing a heart at trick three. Then he played king and ace of spades. West showed out, but that didn't stop South's machinery from working. He ruffed another heart, played king and ace of clubs and ruffed a club. Then he entered dummy with the last high diamond and ruffed dummy's last club for his 10 trick.

South still had two losing diamonds and West had two winners, but they did him no good as East had to trump them.

The whole play is worth study. Note that if South had not stopped to ruff a heart at trick three he would have been one entry short and would not have been able to score all his little trumps. Also, note the timing. If he ever led dummy's fourth heart, East would have been able to ruff in and spoil all South's fun.

Garrow Testifies About Three Other Slayings

LAKE PLEASANT, N.Y. (UPI) — Robert F. Garrow, on trial for allegedly murdering a teen-aged camper in the Adirondack Mountains last summer, elaborated under cross examination Tuesday on three other slayings and sexual acts.

The Syracuse bakery mechanic, who took the stand in Hamilton County Court Monday in his own defense, testified that he picked up a high school girl in Syracuse last summer, took her to a secluded area of a park, had intercourse with her and strangled her. Garrow's attorneys have identified the girl as Alicia Hauck of Syracuse.

He also testified about the deaths of Daniel Porter, 22, of Concord, Mass., and Susan Petz, 21, of Skokie, Ill., also slain while on an Adirondack camping trip last summer.

In addition, Garrow testified that he picked up two young girls in the Syracuse suburb of Geddes and had one of them perform an act of sodomy, orally, and the other girl, I had her play with me," Garrow, 38, is under indictment in that case.

The balding, powerfully built man did not testify directly about the death of Philip Domblewski, 18, of Schenectady, however. It is in connection with Domblewski's stabbing death last July 29 near Speculator that Garrow is being tried.

The prosecution has charged Garrow routed Domblewski and three companions from their campsite at rifle-point, tied them to trees and then fatally stabbed Domblewski.

Garrow, called to the stand in his own behalf by his attorneys Monday, delivered a rambling account, punctuated by sobs, of other, unrelated incidents.

He said he picked up Miss Hauck, 16, drove for a while and then walked into a wooded area, where they had intercourse. Later, Garrow said, they argued and "she grabbed for my knife, I think. I strangled her." The girl's decomposed body was found in a Syracuse cemetery.

In another incident shortly before the death of Domblewski, Garrow told of encountering Porter and Miss Petz near the Warren County community of Wevertown. He said he became involved in argument with Porter while he was parked along a rural road, got out of his car and began to fight with the young man. "Maybe I said something grouchy to him. He went to grab me, and I him, and we both fell. We fought quite a bit. I was mad." Garrow said the girl with Porter, who he identified only as "Carol", tried to help Porter but Garrow struck her.

He then fled with the girl, Garrow said, who was apparently unaware that Porter had been killed in the struggle. Garrow, repeating his testimony of Monday, said he lived in a tent with the girl in the Essex County area near his boyhood home of Witherbee for two or three days, before he became involved in an argument with her.

Garrow said the girl grabbed for his knife and he cut his hand wresting it away from her. Then, he said, "I went berserk and that was it. I hit her with the knife. I don't know where or how many times."

He said he then "pushed her down a minesnaft". The body of Miss Petz was found Dec. 1 in an abandoned mineshaft in the Witherbee area.

Two 'Scholars' Expelled in Regents Scandal

NEW YORK (AP) — Two "superb" students who were critical of government leaders' moral attitudes have been expelled from a Brooklyn yeshiva for allegedly helping steal question and answers to state achievement tests.

Disclosure of the theft and the discovery that students in the metropolitan area were buying the exam questions and answers prompted the state Education Department to cancel nine of the 21 Board of Regents tests that were to be given to 700,000 high school students this week.

Regents exams in Spanish and French were administered as scheduled Tuesday, despite reports that questions and answers for those tests also were being sold.

The Education Department had no evidence that the cribbing scandal will compromise the remaning 10 tests in the series.

The tests are used in a point system to determine recipients of the state's highest academic diploma. Good marks in the exams are regarded as crucial for college bound students.

The biggest scandal in the 96-year history of the exam broke Friday when Eugene Gold, district attorney of Brooklyn, said four youths used a key to get into the principal's office at the Solomon Schecter school, removed the tests for photocopying, and peddled copies of the questions and answers at prices ranging from 50 cents to $40.

Gold did not identify the youths except to say one attended New York University, another was enrolled at Adelphi University, and the other two were students at the Jewish yeshiva.

On Tuesday, the two Schecter students were expelled, just a few days before their scheduled graduation.

H. Russell Cammer, president of the school's board of directors, said he knew both 18-year-old boys and said they were "outstanding scholars," who frequently criticized the moral stances of President Nixon and other leaders implicated in the Watergate scandal.

Cammer said they had been accepted by "very good colleges," but now the school will write to the colleges "withdrawing our earlier recommendations."

Gold has said he did not plan to prosecute the quartet because the four students had been granted immunity during questioning at a time when they were witnesses believed only to have bought answers. They confessed later, Gold said.

In the wake of the exam cancellations, several school districts outside of New York city planned to substitute special local tests for the Regents exams.

Empty-Handed Wilson

WASHINGTON (UPI) — New York Gov. Malcolm Wilson went to the White House again Tuesday to press his request for $200 million in federal aid to maintain mass transit fares in his state, and again came away empty-handed.

The Republican governor said he got "no assurance at all" that the money would be forthcoming. He said he was given mainly "the same sympathetic understanding of the problem" that he had received in several previous visits.

Wilson met with James Falk, associate director of the White House domestic council, to see what was being done about his efforts to secure the federal assistance.

He told newsmen he was somewhat discouraged that there has not been more progress, but said he understood that "there are very real problems" presented in the matter because of different views held in the House, Senate and administration.

At this point, he said he could only hope that all those involved in attempting to arrange the federal aid will "feel the same sense of urgency that I do" and "that we will have action on this subject in time to save the fares in New York."

Legislation is pending in both the House and Senate, but the outlook for approval is uncertain.

Wilson said he also came to Washington to see if Congress could not revise a 1968 law, regulating state purchases of electric power facilities.

The New York State Power Authority was recently authorized in state legislation to purchase two power plants of the Consolidated Edison Co., but the federal law has complicated that transaction and Wilson said he was trying to get the law changed.

Accompanying Wilson were Charles Luce, the Consolidated Edison board chairman, and James Fitzpatrick, chairman of the New York State Power Authority.

Wilson said he presented his case first to Sen. Russell Long, D-La., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, and that New York Sens. Jacob K. Javits, a Republican, and James L. Buckley, a Republican-Conservative, joined in making the appeal.

Before coming to the White House, Wilson said he also conferred with Treasury Secretary William E. Simon to bring the same matter to Simon's attention and to tell the treasury secretary "about my great concern" over the impact of inflation.

At one point outside the White House, Wilson was asked how he felt about Buckley's decision Tuesday to endorse him for re-election this fall. He said he was "immensely gratified".

Asked what he thought of Buckley's failure to endorse Javits, Wilson said that he had not talked to Buckley about that, but said he himself was "fully and enthusiastically supporting Senator Javits."
